Mayor battles to retain nomination powers

By DAVID LELAND

CARMEL MAYOR Jean Grace tenaciously clung to her power to nominate citizens to boards and commissions during this week's council meeting.

However, she was not optimistic about retaining that capacity after the Oct. 1 meeting, when the agenda calls for presentation of a revised ordinance converting the nomination process into a council-wide decision.

"They'll win; they have the majority," said Grace, referring to councilmembers Jim Wright, Ken White and Barbara Brooks, after a two-hour long hearing.

While the Sept. 3 council meeting failed to become the donnybrook that many had feared, public and council testimony revealed that the emotional issue may eventually find its way to the voters in a general election.

If residents do not agree with a council action, a referendum can bring the matter before voters in a general election.

Brought to the council by Wright last June, the ordinance change seeks to strip the mayor of the right to bring names to the council to fill vacant seats on boards and commissions.

Neither Wright nor Grace agree on what precipitated the change.

Wright testified that he had grown tired of continually asking Grace to avoid bringing nominees to the council who had commercial or real estate interests in the city. At that time, the city was attempting to fill a seat vacated by the late Barbara Lysle.

"The mayor resisted that idea," said Wright, adding that the majority of the planning commission should be composed of residents. "Finally I came to the conclusion that the only way we were going to get that broad balance was to change the ordinance."

Grace pointed out that she had merely attempted to bring the nomination process

They've got class

SUMMER VACATION was officially over Sept. 3 as children returned to Carmel area schools to start the 1991-92 school year. Back to school took on a family atmosphere at Carmel River School as parents joined their children in going back to school (below right). Some children, of course, (above right), took the traditional school bus. The River School PTA sponsored a back-to-school event (which accounted for the large turn-out of parents), that included coffee and pastries, room parent sign-ups (photo at left), as well as unveiling of the pastoral mural painted by Carmel artist Delia Bradford. Those still a little too young to attend school, such as Abby Stoffers (below), helped out by holding up signs at the information booth. Over at Carmel High School, district staff and teachers got together for a back-to-school pep rally in the school cafeteria. Joining in the fun (below left, left to right), were Karl Pallastrini, Carmel Middle School principal; Marie Ishida, Carmel High principal; and Marvin Biasotti, CUSD director of pupil personnel services. Like some giant seagull

Dear Editor:

Overly aggressive enforcement of the law has recently given more than one California Police department a major black eye. While I certainly would not compare the enforcement procedures of Carmel's finest to the highly publicized excesses lately witnessed in other cities, I think it is high time that responsible Carmel officials recognize that there are serious problems with the manner in which parking enforcement is handled in our town.

Case in point: I recently received a ticket for parking overtime in the downtown area. It wasn't the first overtime ticket I have received in Carmel over the last 25 years. But it was the first time I have ever been ticketed anywhere for parking four minutes over the allotted one hour.

Anxious to understand what I felt was either an oversight or, overzealous ticketing, I was appalled and downright annoyed when confronted by an extraordinarily defensive meter person. Single-mindedly refusing to entertain any possibility of error on her part, the meter person steadfastly, and belligerently, refused to acknowledge any possibility of validity to my claim.

In short order I was advised that if I didn't like the ticket I could take the matter up in court. And besides, the meter person simply didn't understand why I was getting agitated since.... "It's only a $10 ticket."

Let's face it, surly meter people, bent on issuing marginally deserved overtime citations have angered more people, ruined more visits, and created more ill will toward the town of Carmel than most city officials have the honesty to admit.

In fact, unfair, unjust, and just plain mean ticketing for overtime parking in Carmel has been a regular complaint in letters from people all over the U.S. for years. And this is certainly not news to either our police department or city officials.

Police personnel are quick to point out that their primary goal in parking enforcement is vehicle circulation, so that more customers are free to park and shop in the downtown stores. This, they say, is a direct benefit to small business owners like myself. Well, I would like to make it brutally clear that the threat of the dreaded meter person swooping down sharply at the end of 60 minutes has certifiably cost me far more business over the years than the aggressively enforced one hour time limit has ever provided.

My business is heavily patronized by Carmel and Monterey Peninsula "local" residents. I can state with absolute certainty that a great deal more of these local people would willingly shop in my store if it were not for the draconian parking enforcement policies of the town.

One hour is simply not enough time to do anything significant in downtown Carmel. It isn't enough time to visit hardly any of our 111 clothing stores, enjoy more than one or two of our 68 art galleries, take in a leisurely luncheon at any of our 82 restaurants, or purchase an artistically designed piece of fine jewelry in one of our 32 jewelry stores. And whether or not Carmel's ruling bureaucrats care to acknowledge it, hundreds of locals from all over the peninsula, along with innumerable visitors from all over the world, come here specifically to engage in one or another of these activities.

So, what actually happens to many of these people when they alight here in our fair town to conduct their business? They park their car and immediately begin racing from one shop to the next, all the while nervously eyeing their watch. Finally, at the end of the allotted hour, in a frenzy they run off to move their car. Anxiously arriving at the often forgotten spot, they manage to appear just in time to be greeted by a grinning meter person who has, mere moments before, like some giant seagull on high, plopped an egregiously offensive $10 ticket smack all over the car's windshield.

Come on people, lets get with it. Does anyone really believe that it pays to continue this policy of persistently kicking both locals and visitors alike, all in the dubious name of better traffic circulation?

Recently, a local parking commission proposed increasing the parking limit in certain areas of Carmel to two hours. I say, let's do it now! Try it for six months. If it doesn't work, no problem, we can change back. I guarantee that those of us who depend on business in downtown Carmel will be the first to notice if business suffers from "poor circulation."

Let's also turn our meter people into genuinely pleasant and friendly folks. Instead of having them eyeball every potential overtime parker like some common criminal, empower them to occasionally tear up a contested citation. Policies which require meter people to inform their victims that they "can take it up in court," are patently ridiculous, offensive, and seriously out of step with the genteel character of our idyllic small town.

Clearly, since so many of us are frantically running around trying to move our cars before an aggressive meter person skewers us, who among us has any time left to go to court?

Better use of money

Dear Editor:

In the August 15 edition, you reported that the top water officials say we are still in a drought and in a water crisis. In such grim circumstances, isn't it akin to criminal negligence that the water board still has not provided or allowed the wells which, in a critical drought emergency, could provide some of the extensive drought reserves which exist in the Carmel Valley?

The total storage capacity of the Carmel Valley aquifer is, according to the district, 48,000 acre feet. This is nearly 20,000 acre feet more than the 28,400 acre feet which district staff has defined as "useable" water because "some wells are not deep enough" or "to protect against sea water intrusion."

Before the March rains, 15,000 acre feet of "useable" water remained. Including the 20,000 acre feet of water not defined as "useable," the total remaining water was 35,000 acre feet.

Three thousand acre feet per year could easily be provided from the 20,000 acre feet reserve with no danger of salt water intrusion. Since the wells would be rarely used to supplement municipal water supply, active mitigation would rarely be needed. With the usual irrigation to preserve bank vegetation, no additional mitigation would be required since the district has already commenced mitigation to protect the steelhead fishery. Why does the board not direct immediate drilling of the needed wells, with use to be authorized by the board only during a critical drought emergency when the present wells fail to provide enough water for the public?

Most of the reserve water is in the lower aquifer where special precaution needs to be taken to prevent seawater intrusion. Fortunately, available information indicates this will be easily accomplished. Both the district staff and the Department of Water Resources indicate that river water seeps through the sand barrier at the mouth of the river at a rate of just over 400 acre feet per year. This amounts to 1.21 acre feet per day or 0.6 cubic feet per second. This amount could be easily provided by a single "mitigation" well just east of Highway 1 bridge and piped to the lagoon to maintain a positive fresh water gradient at the mouth of the river. Such a well could also provide needed bank irrigation near the bridge.

Wouldn't active pursuit of these existing drought reserves for $1 million to $2 million be a better use of taxpayer's money than wasting staff time and an extravagant $34 million on a presently unneeded desalination project?

Some simple changes

Dear Editor:

Since moving to Carmel from Los Angeles 18 months ago, I have been very impressed with the courtesy of drivers toward each other at the intersection of Carmel Valley Road and Highway 1. Unfortunately, that courtesy—stopping northbound uphill traffic so that the downhill southbound traffic can turn left (east) onto Carmel Valley Road, together with the current layout of Highway 1 and the poor driving habits of some drivers going north above the intersection, lead, I believe, to the daily delays in this area.

Compared to Los Angeles or San Jose, the local bottleneck is nothing, and the surroundings during these short waits are still beautiful and better than the big city's. The waste of time, extra fuel consumption and resultant pollution of this pristine environment are not necessary and could be eliminated and/or reduced, at very nominal cost, by some simple changes. Also, the problems associated with the destruction of Hatton Canyon or the widening of Highway 1 would not arise. There may be good reasons why what I am suggesting has not been done, but I have never heard them.

If Highway 1 was restripped (and there is room to do so) above the Carmel Valley intersection so that there were two lanes going north (uphill) and one lane going south (downhill) the Valley traffic could easily enter Highway 1 without stopping themselves or those coming up Highway 1. Slower campers, trucks and autos could continue in the right-hand lane, while the faster traffic could continue in the left lane or around them in both lanes. The ultimate improvement would be for a left-hand turn underpass from Highway 1 onto Carmel Valley Road exiting onto the current two-lane road past (east of) Carmel Rancho Boulevard and an underpass (both north- and southbound) for Highway 1 at Rio Road. Underpasses would maintain current road levels.

There are other refinements to allow for the flow of traffic into and out of Rio Road, Carmel Valley Road and Carmel Rancho Boulevard that would enhance the overall flow of traffic while eliminating these bottlenecks and potential high-accident areas. Similar improvements could be made at the Ocean and Carpenter Street intersections with Highway 1 at a later date if, after these first changes, traffic tie-ups there were still a problem.

These changes would give visitors more time to spend in the city being patrons, rather than just sitting and fussing in their autos, and provide residents relief from this daily frustration.

The ground areas next to Highway 1 south of Carmel Valley Road, now reserved for the lower portion of the Hatton Canyon Freeway, could then be used, with appropriate landscaping, as parking for RVs and other vehicles for visitors who wish to visit downtown Carmel and other nearby areas. They could be accessible by shuttle bus.

The extra benefit is that the beauty of the surrounding lands stay as they are and the ridiculous amount of money required for the Hatton Canyon Freeway can be put to use for something that will have a more beneficial long-term benefit.

Is there any reason why this concept can't or shouldn't be undertaken now?

The end of an era

Dear Editor:

Eben Whittlesey, the last surviving charter member of our Carmel Host Lions Club, died Aug. 22. In addition to being very involved in civic and cultural affairs (he was Mayor of Carmel 1962-1964), Eben was a founding director and legal advisor to the local Lions Blind Center in Pacific Grove.

Eben was active in our Lions Club until his final illness, serving his community. We will miss him!

Kelsey to take it easy after 40 years fighting fires

By DAVID LELAND

WHEN 10-year-old Jim Kelsey awoke that bright Sunday morning in May of 1935 he had one thing on his mind: catch the new James Cagney movie, "G-Man," at the Golden Bough Theater.

Those familiar with Carmel history, of course, are aware that the movie house burned to the ground that day, before Jim could enjoy the film.

"I was never so mad in my life," says Kelsey, now 66. "I said to myself, 'Someday I'm going to be a fireman so this won't happen.'"

True to his word, Kelsey has dedicated more than half his life to fighting fires and offering medical assistance as a volunteer for the Carmel Fire Department, officially joining up more than 40 years ago.

But having worked his way through the ranks of lieutenant, captain, senior captain and battalion chief, Kelsey is finally calling it quits.

"I'll be glad when it's over; I'm wondering how many of my friends are going to come to the dinner," says Kelsey, referring to a party in his honor slated for Sept. 7 at Rancho Canada. "I've never been shy, but it's more attention than I deserve; I became a member of the fire department and just stuck with it."

'I've never been shy, but it's more attention than I deserve; I became a member of the fire department and just stuck with it.'
—Jim Kelsey

To be sure, his efforts are well appreciated. This week the Carmel City Council adopted a resolution of its appreciation for the volunteer work Kelsey has performed.

And while some volunteers may balk at the time commitment, Kelsey says that, during the past 30 years, he has only missed one drill (because he was undergoing medical tests) and has attended every meeting.

"Drills are there to learn and to pass on (knowledge) to other people," says Kelsey, an avid duck hunter. "That's when you pick up you have to learn to be a good fireman."

Kelsey has weathered his share of personnel changes during his fire department tenure.

"I've gone through six chiefs and I've outlasted them all," says Kelsey, excluding current chief Bill Hill.

A veteran of the Korean War, Kelsey is perhaps best-known in Carmel for his nine-seat hamburger stand, Rinky Dink, which used to be located directly across from the fire house.

"It was a working man's place," remembers Kelsey, who first trained as a junior fireman with the department in 1942 while attending Carmel High School. "If I left to go on a fire call, the customers would ring up their own purchase."

AFTER MORE than 40 years of volunteer service, Battalion Chief Jim Kelsey is retiring from the Carmel Fire Department this month. (David Leland photo.)

He adds that it's the people, not the action, that has kept him so involved through the years.

"It's the good comradeship and always feeling you can help people," says Kelsey, who served in the U.S. Navy.

And while the thousands of fire calls he answered throughout the years tend to blur together, Kelsey says one that sticks out is a house fire that took place on 11th Avenue between Camino Real and Carmelo streets.

The team had hung back because there was a car burning in the basement, but the incident commander ordered them to enter the home and spray the car down.

"You didn't know if it was going to blow or not," says Kelsey, adding that the firefighters successfully extinguished the blaze.

But even though Kelsey has enjoyed his decades with the department, he is ready to spend more time relaxing — his wife, Frankie, most likely will heave a sigh of relief.

"My wife had to put up with it the same amount of years I did," says Kelsey, the father of two daughters and grandpa to seven. "She doesn't like the alarm going off at three in the morning waking her up."

Does Kelsey have big plans for his retirement? Not really.

"I'll just take it easy," he says.

Those interested in attending the dinner honoring Kelsey this Saturday, Sept. 7, may call Art Black at 624-1718.

City council takes action at Sept. 3 gathering

FOLLOWING are highlights of the Sept. 3 Carmel City Council meeting. The council:

• Approved Mayor Jean Grace's nominations of Barbara Little and Cecil Wahle to the Harrison Memorial Library Board of Trustees.

The two three-year terms begin immediately and occurred because Jack Billwiller and Merryl Cottrell did not wish to serve another term.

Little, the daughter of former library boardmember Dick Little, owns a small shop in Carmel.

Wahle is an antiquarian bookseller and has been a supporter of the Harrison Memorial Library for many years.

• Received a staff report from the Landlord/Tenant Committee with 18 recommendations.

The council will review the recommendations that necessitate policy guidance and forward those to various organizations within the city.

• Discussed what should be contained in a letter to the state Coastal Commission concerning a recent traffic analysis by Caltrans in regard to the Hatton Canyon Freeway.

The council concurred that Caltrans used the wrong methodology in counting traffic; did not include analysis of traffic impacts on Carpenter Street if the project proceeds; failed to analyze traffic levels on existing Highway 1 if a new freeway is built; chose the wrong month to conduct testing (August is not representative of normal traffic patterns); selected incorrect locations for monitoring.

However, the city received a letter from Caltrans District Director Tom Pollock defending the study as being as "objective and accurate as our budget allows."

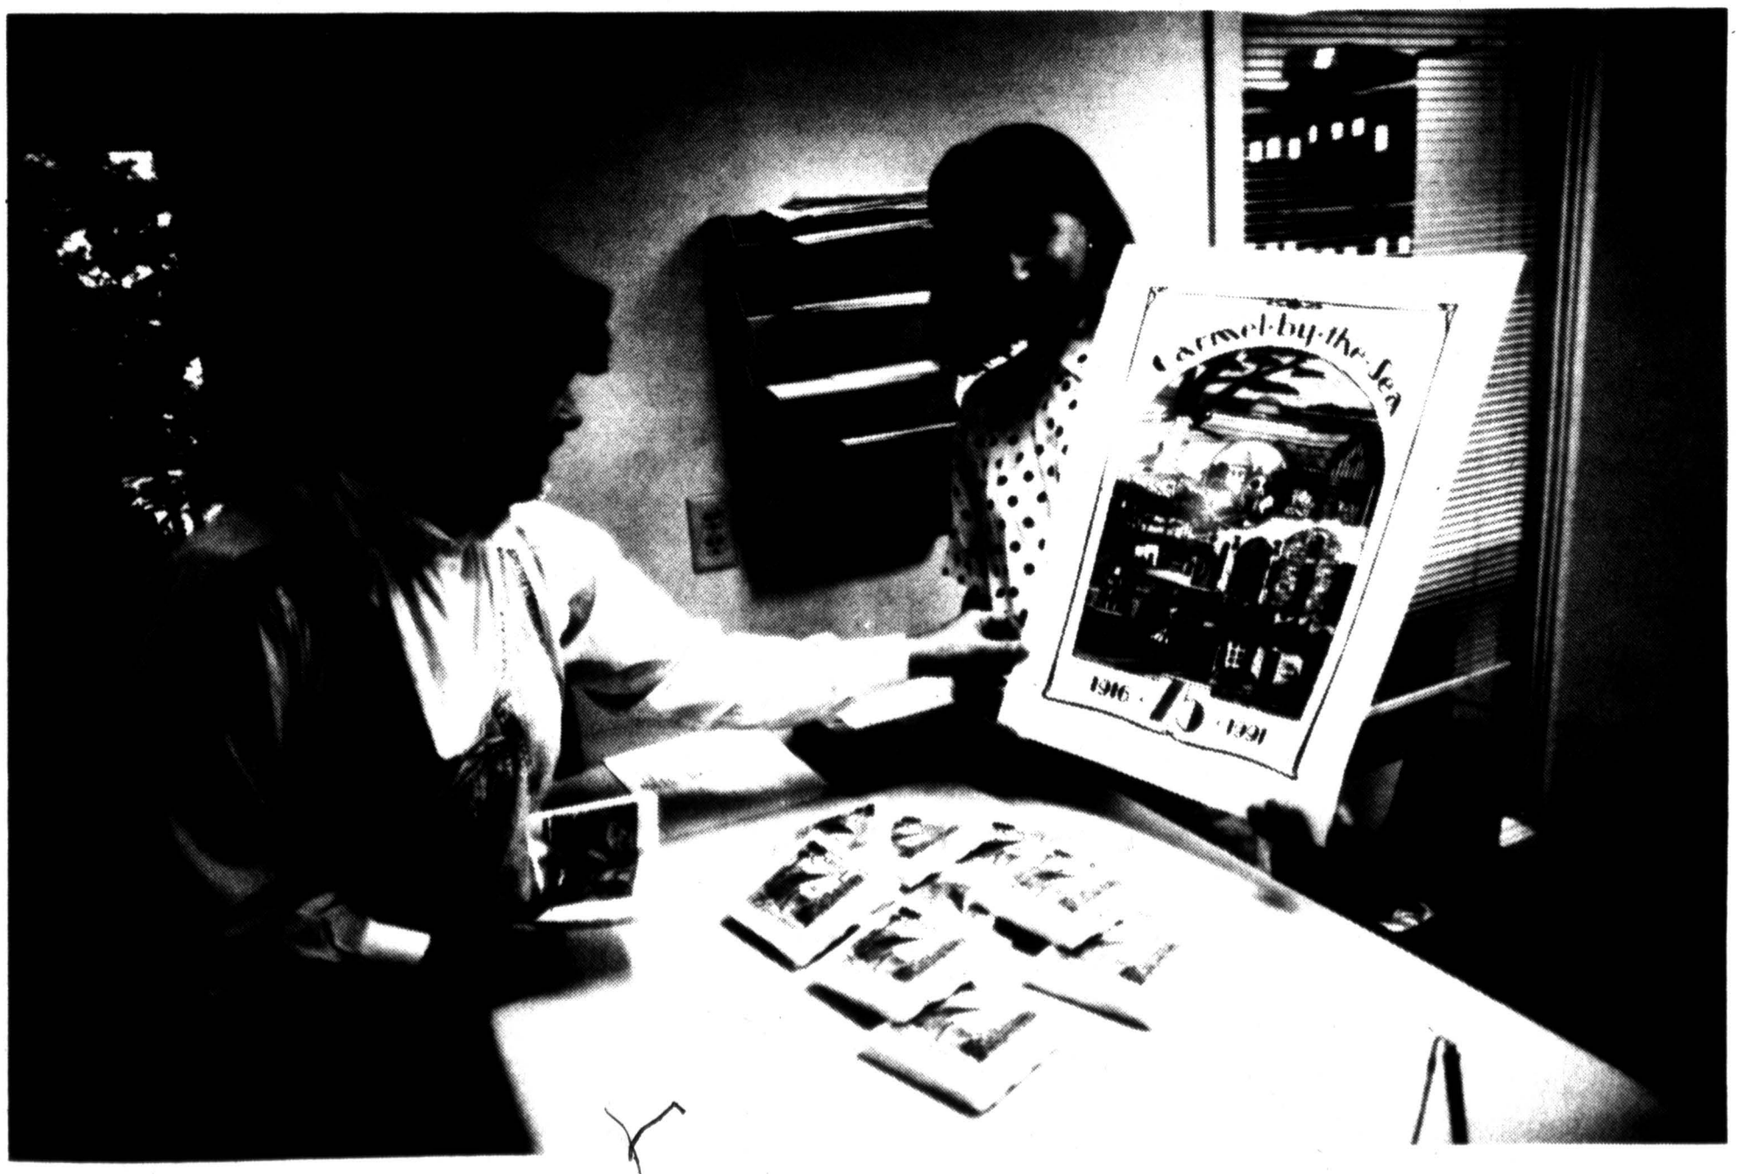

• Approved a $2,500 demolition of a footbridge which crosses the Carmel River between the Carmel Area Wastewater District treatment plant and the area of Rio Park.

The city found that the footbridge did not meet building code standards and presented a liability risk.

"With the future development of the park, and thus the opening of this property to public access, the existing footbridge across the river is considered an attractive nuisance," according to a city staff report.

• Denied a request from the Monterey/Santa Cruz County Gallery Association to stage an art fair in Devendorf Park this October.

The city will review an additional request from that agency for another fair next April.

Decisions, decisions

LOS ANGELES resident Nancy Hills (left), drove 350 miles from Smog City to check out the wares available at Carmel City Hall commemorating the city's 75th anniversary. Helping her make the tough decisions was city employee Leslie Fenton, who holds up a 75th anniversary poster (available for $10 plus tax). Also available are 75th anniversary cocktail napkins ($2). into the public eye, and had gone along with the council majority when asked to appoint Lysle.

"It's not up to the council to keep the mayor in line," she shot back at Wright.

During the meeting, the council majority rejected the mayor's nomination of Betty Parese to fill a planning commission seat being vacated by Planning Commissioner Lindsay Hanna.

Grace and her ally, Councilman Bob Fischer, both agreed that the issue should go to the voters in the election next June.

"It (proposal) just doesn't fly," Fischer said. "The majority of the council does not necessarily represent the majority of the people. Put it on the ballot next year; I challenge you."

Grace also complained that it is unfair for the mayor, who serves only a two-year term as compared to councilmembers' four-year term, to wield less power and work harder.

"I would not have run for this position if the position is only a figurehead, a workhorse," said Grace, adding that she puts in long hours representing the city and has thoroughly reviewed all nominees for boards and commissions before offering them to the council. "I will fight (now and in the future) tooth and nail for the mayor to have certain prerogatives — even if I don't like the mayor."

Brooks said she resented Grace bringing nominees to the council which didn't stand a good chance of receiving approval.

"There's been a major attempt to bring the council into submission," she said.

Grace said that she had never suggested a nominee who she believed would definitely not be approved.

PUBLIC TESTIMONY appeared weighted on Grace's side.

Don Kremer pointed out that the process has worked well; all one needs to do is examine the quality of personnel serving on the city's boards and commissions.

"In changing this we would be saying that we haven't had good commissions or boardmembers in the past," he said. "This change is for change's sake, I don't see any advantage."

Dr. Ben Heller, however, testified that allowing more input into selecting boardmembers and commissioners "makes the process more democratic."

To that end, Grace said the council has interviewed in public since 1946.

Longtime resident Marian Leidig agreed that the system is working.

"If it 's worked for 45 years I see no reason to change it now," she said.

Taciturn resident and three-time mayor Barney Laiolo challenged the council to let the people decide.

"Unless you put this to a vote of the people, I think you should knock it off," he said.

However, a Carmel Residents Association spokesman testified that, "The process should be made in a more democratic way."

Linda Anderson, a member of the Carmel Cultural Commission, also testified that she would welcome the chance to interview prospective applicants to ensure a wise commission.

Hanna, who introduced himself as a "part-time political analyst," cautioned the council against making rash decisions.

"Three of the five councilmembers have been less than enthusiastic about some of the mayor's recent nominees," he said. "(But) because you have a temporary political impasse you don't change the rules."

He added that if the nomination methodology changes, the council majority may simply meet and decide who will fill the vacant positions.

Allan Williams suggested the council follow the example set by the federal government in selecting Supreme Court justices.

"I can't imagine the Congress trying to pick a Supreme Court justice through some sort of committee process," said Williams, alluding to the idea that the nomination is made by the president.

At least one resident chastised the council for taking up too much public time with political disputes.

"We've gone way too far in creating trouble in this community," said Marjorie Montelious. "I'd like to see it stopped."

After discussion, the council unanimously approved action to balance the planning commission.

However, next month the draft ordinance will contain at least three options for nominating commission and boardmembers: 1) leave as is with a public interview process; 2) allow council to appoint with a public review process; or 3) have a public nominating process.

Local spiritual center supports HIV/AIDS sufferers

By JOHN DETRO

THIS PARTICULAR Catholic priest speaks softly and carries a tough mind.

Along with his tragedy-tested, obviously compassionate heart.

"I don't have clients," says Al Syslo during a Labor Day chat. "We're an affective family whose members care about one another."

For the past two years, he has headed the John XXIII Ministry, this region's locus of spiritual support for those hit by HIV/AIDS. Now the independent corporation (titled after the late pope of worldwide popularity) has evolved Michael Center at 1009 Forest Ave. in Pacific Grove. The aforementioned family gathers round this bright dwelling and its wall-to-wall hum of peace.

"Michael Pollock was a vibrant activist who died of AIDS within this county," Al continues. "When we put his name on the new place, it was a way of saying to other sufferers—'You are not dirty; your role in this world is important.' We were thinking about self-esteem, and about how every person's journey has real value."

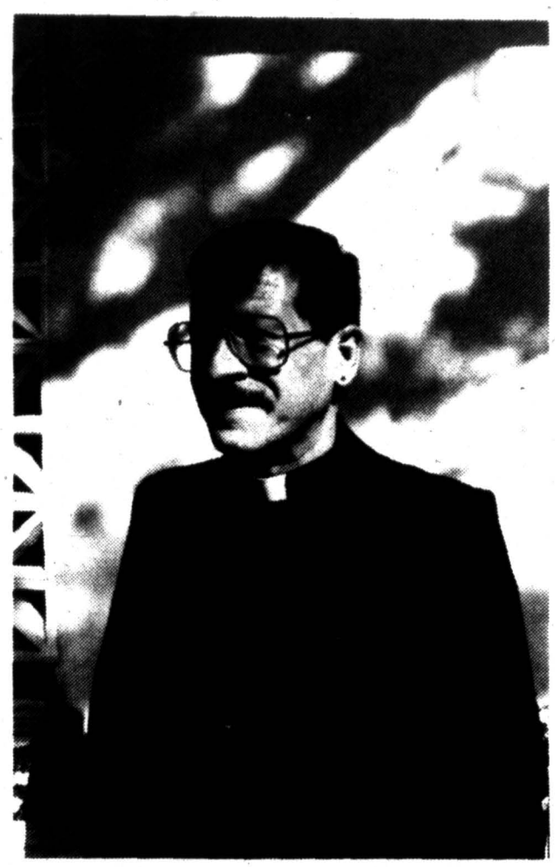

Area clergy gathered at Michael Center last week and asked God's blessings upon the site, the staffers, the work. Already, Al reports, the core group includes 200 human beings—"slightly more than half of whom are infected."

They come from Monterey, San Benito, Santa Cruz and San Luis Obispo counties. "If we count friends, volunteers, parents, donors — well, the grand total of those who've made a commitment would reach 450. Everyone who comes through these doors will be welcome, of course. (Call 655-1737 if you wish any degree of involvement.) The neighbors? I suspect that it'll be a quiet process. Over a period of time, they'll ask what we're doing, and I'll tell, one-on-one. Because, basically, this's a residence, and we're part of the ongoing neighborhood."

The brochure about Michael Center lists many uses: prayer groups, centering, meditation, peer counseling, weekly lunches for HIV/AIDS sufferers, retreats, worship and memorial services, workshops that focus on "holistic living and dying," 12-step program (care givers included). There's a support group for mothers of persons with HIV/AIDS—and another "for those adversely affected by the secrets and confidentiality surrounding HIV/AIDS."

Then the document necessarily touches upon last earthly days: "For some, it will be a place of transition until they can find a place. For some, it will be a permanent residence. Some will live here for a while and some will die within a family life here at the center. We want to create a place of dignity and support, a place of faith and prayer, a place of empowerment and

Peter Hay Golf Course undergoes refurbishment

AFTER UNDERGOING major renovations, the par-three, nine-hole Peter Hay golf course, located near the entrance to The Lodge in Pebble Beach, reopened for public play last week.

During the three-month restoration, the kikuyu grass was completely eradicated and replaced with the same rye grass now prominent on the Pebble Beach Golf Links.

The sprinkler system was also upgraded to eliminate hand watering, and bunkers were installed at strategic spots along the course. Additional tees were set in to allow playing the holes from a different location on an optional second time around.

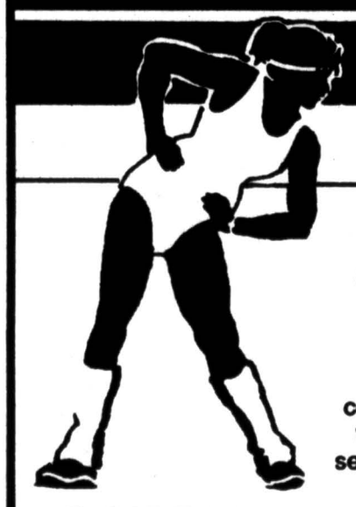

"We are proud of the way the course has been renovated," said Paul Spengler, vice president of golf operations. "We wanted to recreate the beauty of Peter Hay and provide a challenging, but fun test of golfing skill. This renovation has done both."

The Peter Hay Golf Course, named after the Scottish-born golf professional at Pebble Beach (1943-61), first opened in October 1957.

Hay designed the course with the help of Jack Neville, Gen. Robert McClure and William T. Moore.

Upon Hay's death in 1961, long-time employer and friend, S.F.B. Morse said, "His whole life was dedicated in a most conscientious and loyal manner to the furtherance of the sport of golf through the world."

healing for those who wish to live with us and share in our vision."

The underlying urgency may seem all too obvious. Still, Al says the latest available Monterey County Health Department report lists 215 "full-blown AIDS cases, 143 of whom have died. We're entirely different from Monterey County AIDS Project, which does a real fine job with education and practical support. At present we're forming another independent non-profit corporation to raise funds and create a much larger residential opportunity called Our House."

Another wish — the funds to employ Kay McMullen full-time. A Sister of Notre Dame, she has been with the program about a year and oversees women's services while managing Michael Center. "Kay's a strong part of the main message," Al Syslo continues, "which is that people aren't alone and deserve a sense of empowerment. We hate to see AIDS victims pitied — 'oh, that poor person.' I hope, when we look at someone who's ill, we don't take away the empowering elements of the individual life. People can still do things when they're ill. So we talk together, laugh at each other, support each other very well. Some just aren't group people; they'll find support among friends. And some will go it alone. . . ."

Did his inner being receive a call to enter this specific area of service? "Yes," Al replies. "What I've come to realize is that The Spirit also moves in terms of what we like to do. The Christian, Jewish and Buddhist communities have given us a good reception. You know, there's a guy with AIDS on the board of Michael Center. I got him involved—'Go visit people.' And today he's busy. We're building a file of volunteers; the more the better. We are all a part of this epidemic. . . ."

As one his pamphlet's closing words proclaim: "A community concerned about love will be known by the world for its caring for each member, whether of high estate or the most rejected. Our love will be a sign for our society as a whole when we hurt when others hurt, when we rejoice when others rejoice, when we succeed when others succeed. Our love will be seen in this age as to how we cared for those with HIV/AIDS. When one has AIDS, we all have AIDS. When one loses a son or daughter, a brother or sister, a mother or father, a wife or husband, an uncle or aunt, we all lose someone important to our world and society and age."

Variety of events set at Michael Center

MICHAEL CENTER in Pacific Grove has various public events. A sampling:

• Oct. 5 from 9:30 a.m.-3 p.m. — Introductory workshop on Centering Prayer for those new to the practice. Bring a sack lunch. At workshop's end, an invitation will be made to anyone who might like a six-week course. Contact Contemplative Outreach (375-2705).

• Centering Prayer in Community — Monday through Friday, 7-7:30 a.m. Again, use the Contemplative Outreach number.

• Centering Prayer Course — Oct. 12, 19, 26 and Nove. 2,9. It's 9:30 a.m.-noon. Basic course on Centering Meditation for anyone wishing to deepen prayer life. Each Saturday session will include practice period, an hour video of Fr. Thomas Keating and a staff-led group discussion.

• Days of Prayer — 9:30 a.m.-noon on Dec. 7, 14. Pausing in silence, inner rest, trust. Centering Prayer (introduction), quiet reflection, liturgy.

VENTANA WILDERNESS REPORT

BY CRAIG HOHENBERGER

Mysteries of migration

MIGRATION HAS always been a subject of fascination for people throughout history, as birds annually oscillate between seasonal locations. Even today, the question of how and when migration originated still remains speculative, though much has been learned over the past 50 years.

Experimental research projects have demonstrated that the temporal aspects of a spring day stimulates the activity of a bird's endocrine glands and stirs the bird into a state of "migratory restlessness." A catalyst, such as a change in temperature or weather may then prompt the bird to migrate. Conversely, in the fall, as endocrine activity begins to decline, the bird reaches another migratory state that is triggered by these external factors, i.e., light, temperature, and weather patterns.

The sources of information on the processes of migration, i.e., departure and arrival dates, duration, distances covered, routes, effects of weather on migration patterns, physical obstructions, etc., is the result of years of observations from multitudes of biologists and volunteers, plus, from the millions of banded birds.

It is apparent that birds possess remarkable navigational skills, illustrated by their uncanny ability to return to previous nest sites after protracted absences and great migrational distances. New tools and techniques, such as, radiotelemetry and radar are shedding light on some of migrational mysteries. But, just how do birds migrate and orient themselves have been the result of many creative experiments. We know there are many external triggers in migration, but, endogenous factors also play a significant role too. By using caged birds, researchers have demonstrated increased "fluttering behavior" in the bird's expected wild migrational routes. In addition, there is strong evidence for diurnal movements using the sun, and nocturnal peregrinations via celestial patterns. It has been my experience along the coast at known "vagrant traps," that there is certainly an increased occurance of lost birds and migrants on overcast nights. Why is this the case? Well, the data certainly suggests that on overcast nights these migrating birds are being "grounded." The "grounded" birds tend to refuel until the overcast dissipates; then under the next clear night sky, the birds often depart immediately.

Another interesting migratory phenomenon is that of "mirror image" theory, originally proposed by Dr. David DeSante. Essentially, the theory suggests that within any species, a small percentage of the population (usually immatures) will confuse right from left, or even mix up the difference between north and south. The results of this misorientation is fascinating; voluminous records of eastern, asiatic, neotropical birds are annually being recorded in California and elsewhere. For example, tropical kingbirds, normally found in Mexico, can on a regular, but, rare basis, be found on the California coast in the fall, as the result of this reverse migration pattern. It has been suggested that these lost birds, perhaps on an evolutionary basis, could actually enhance the species' distributional status by establishing new breeding and wintering areas.

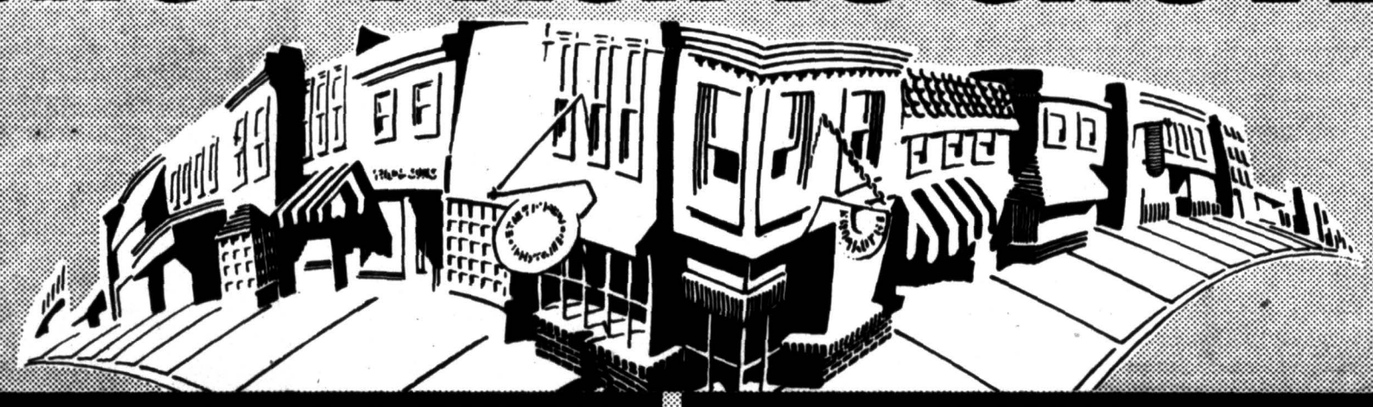

TWO OF the Sanctuary's immature bald eagles took it easy just prior to this year's release on Aug. 19. (Photograph by Jerry Granger).

The research suggests that there isn't any single common evolutionary force for prompting birds to move seasonally to new geographical regions. However, in the Northern Hemisphere, authorities seem to agree that the following three causes could have influenced migration patterns:

(1) the effects of the Ice Age (Pleistocene); (2) birds migrate in the fall because of the oncoming shortage of food during the winter in their breeding areas; and (3) intraspecific and interspecific competition for food, territory, and nest sites.

The fact remains, many birds are on the go, and spring and fall are great times to get out to view and study these navigational wizards. By the time you read this article, some of the early migrants will already have arrived and/or passed through the Monterey Peninsula. However,Monterey County is an exceptional area to study birds, with at least 427 species having been recorded; and, September and October are two of the best months to get out and enjoy the fall migration.

Besides observing the fall movement of our land and waterbirds, it is a great time to be aware of the dispersal of our recently released bald eagles at the Ventana Wilderness Sanctuary. Of course, our primary objective is to have the 12 eaglets "imprint" to the Central Coast of California, however, these birds possess the same endogenous migrational triggers as other wild birds, and often wander great distances. Our eagles are marked with a bicolored red/blue tarsal band, and can commonly be seen along the coast, the peninsula, and Lake Nacimiento and San Antonio. If you happen to see a large eagle of unknown/known identity, please contact the Sanctuary.

If you wish to join VWS on one of the following tours to witness fall migration, please contact Alice McGrath (659-2462), or Craig Hohenberger (626-8348): "Fall Shorebirds of Monterey County", Saturday, Sept. 7; or, "Fall Migration at Andrew Molera State Park, Big Sur," Saturday, Sept. 28. Call for reservations; trips are limited to the first 20 people.

By Barbara March

Peter hasn't heard

PETER DEARDEN hadn't been to the Pebble Beach Concours d'Elegance for a few years, so with a friend, he made the four-hour drive from his home in Santa Barbara to take in the weekend panoply of glamorous cars and beautiful people. He had just finished a book on Juan Manuel Fangio and was thrilled to see the legendary race car driver in person at Laguna Seca and Pebble Beach. He went to the auctions, bid on a couple items, strolled through the Concours and fell in love.

But not with the cars.

After you read the advertisement Peter wrote you'll understand. A typical Pebble Beach Concours crowd numbers around 13,000. Only a true romantic would try to find the woman who took his breath away by placing an ad in the paper.

As Peter tells it, "I saw her at The Lodge and the eye contact was tremendous. I kick myself now for not approaching her. At the time I thought to myself, 'this is so silly, like climbing Mt. Everest,' and I didn't speak when I had the chance. I tried to find her and spent the rest of the afternoon keeping an eye out for her, but no luck."

Dearden has played out the scenario in his mind. "She looked like she belonged there and I wanted to tell her so. It would have been alright if she had said, 'Thank you for the compliment,' and continued on her way, or if she had said, 'thank you,' and accepted my invitation of lunch it would have been even better."

Peter stresses the fact he doesn't make a habit of running personals in the newspaper but the atmosphere of the Monterey Automotive weekend and his love for Carmel inspired him. He considers the Concours weekend the most special event on the west coast and one of the last vestiges of true romance. He realizes more than one Concours guest may see herself as the elegant, demure and sophisticated lady in his ad, but he's ready to dash back to the peninsula to meet his mystery woman. So, if the petite blonde in the boater hat reads this, Peter is waiting to hear from you.

HIGHLANDS 75

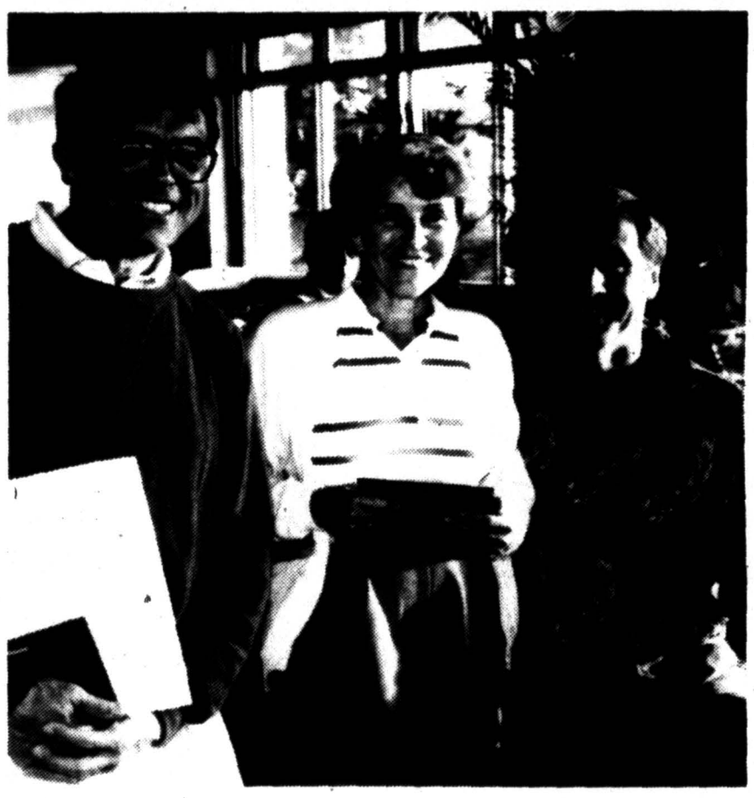

Carmel-by-the-Sea and Highlands Inn share a birthday. Both are 75-years-old this year. Mayor Jean Grace of Carmel recently spent a sunny afternoon on the deck of the California Market at Highlands Inn to coordinate diamond (or is it platinum?) anniversary plans with Highlands Inn General Manager Dennis Mills.

Many famous people have chosen Highlands Inn as a romantic escape, including Elizabeth Taylor and Richard Burton, Marlon Brando, Carol Burnett, John Candy, Judy Garland, Dudley Moore, Audrey Hepburn, Joe Montana, Robin Williams, Michael J. Fox, Jeff Bridges, Tom Selleck, Tina Turner and Barbra Streisand, to name just a few.

The earliest couple still living who spent their wedding night at Highlands Inn will join the long list of celebrities as the hide-away begins its anniversary festivities with a nation-wide "Honeymoon Couple Search." The honeymoon couple with seniority will receive complimentary round-trip airfare to Highlands Inn, a one-week stay and dinner nightly. Madonna and Sean Penn are disqualified, but Mills encourages couples to write to Highlands Inn, P.O. Box 1700, Carmel, CA 93921 attention "Anniversary Search," and include the approximate date of their first stay. Mills also invites Highlands honeymooners to send memorabilia, such as photos, menus and mementoes, which will be included in a permanent history collection.

THE MONTEREY pines are taller and the automobiles sleeker today, but the natural setting and the charming stone lodge that drew visitors to Highlands Inn when it first opened in 1916 welcome guests 75 years later. (Historical photo circa 1920s by Lewis Josselyn from the Pat Hathaway Collection).

PREMIER PEDDLER

Did you know Pacific Grove is the home of Brent Reitz, number one kayaker in the country? Reitz recently went to Ocoee River, Tennessee and returned as the national kayaking champion, with a winning finish time of 17:38.37 in a field of 12. Reitz has been competing on a international level since 1981 and has lived on the peninsula for over three years. You can often see him out on the bay in the early- morning hours, gliding swiftly through the water.

Reitz does some of his practicing in the ocean but specializes in wild water racing. "I race in rapids, over courses three or four miles long, typically on Class Four rivers, (a Class Six is considered non-navigable). I like this kind of racing because there are no man-made obstacles or judges. The racer who finishes the fastest wins."

Like a downhill ski racer, Reitz memorizes the course. "I think of an 18-inch-wide line down the river. That's the fastest line. I have every rock and wave named, I visualize them."

So, why haven't we heard more of Reitz, a national champion, living in our midst? Reitz knows from experience that kayaking is more well known and accepted in Europe. "Kayaking is an obscure sport in this country," he says. "Sometimes it's hard for me to carry on the enthusiasm. I feel what I've done is a big accomplishment for someone who works a 40-hour week. In Europe, kayakers don't have to work and are paid by the government to compete."

Reitz has been lucky and he knows it. When he's not paddling, he works as a construction manager for Pebble Beach Company. "Pebble Beach Company has taken real good care of me. They give me a three-month leave of absence to travel and compete. Not too many companies would do that. I can't thank them enough." Reitz, 34, has plans to retire from the international racing circuit and concentrate on American events and on creating a professional kayak racing series in America. He feels his sport is every bit as exciting and marketable as other events and sees the racing series as the next step toward enhancing the sport he loves.

Reitz has been competing in kayaking since 1984 and he won first place in the National Championships on August 23. He was also top American kayak in the World Cup, placing fourth, and 19th at the World Championships in a field of 55 kayaks representing 16 countries.

MORE BIRTHDAYS

On Sunday, Sept. 15 the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, one of the oldest non-profits on the peninsula, will celebrate its 85th birthday. It promises to be a big day. Pets and owners are encouraged to attend and join in activities such as; a jazz concert by Youth Music Monterey at noon, an Obedience Dog Training Demonstration by the Mixed Breed Dog Club of California, an appearance by the "Beagle Brigade," of the U.S. Department of Agriculture and the blessing of the animals by Fr. Craig Lister of St. Dunstan's Episcopal Church.

Pets (or owners) who get tired of watching and want to participate can enter the special afternoon contest that includes classes such as Waggiest Tail, Longest Ears, Longest Tail, Closest to the Ground, Best Groomed, Farthest from the Ground, Prettiest Eves, Most Colorful and Muttiest Looking.

Call the SPCA at 373-2631 or 422-1721 for details. Remember, dogs must on be leashes and cats in carriers.

TRAVEL TIP

If you plan on heading south this winter, try the Westin Mission Hills in Rancho Mirage. This brand-new desert oasis resort is situated on 360 acres, has 512 rooms, two 18-hole championship golf courses, seven regulation tennis courts, a children's activity center, three swimming pools, volleyball and croquet courts and a fully-equipped health club.

And there's more. Two specialty restaurants, four light menu cafes, a poolside cocktail lounge and a lobby lounge with terrace.

The best news: The Westin Mission Hills is offering an introductory rate of $85 per night, double occupancy from Aug. 28 to Oct. 5. From Oct. 6 through Dec. 30, rates will be $135 double occupancy. Call 1-800-228-3000 for reservations.

DESPERATELY SEEKING...

...The beautiful petite blonde who walked past me at the Concours d'Elegance at the Lodge at Pebble Beach on Sunday, August 18th at about 12:45p.m. You took my breath away as you smiled and our eyes met - so much so, in fact, that I spent much of the remainder of the Concours cursing myself and looking for YOU.

WHO WERE YOU? You walked alone; you wore a white/beige dress & matching boater hat; you looked elegant, demure, and sophisticated - and you had that wonderful smile! You had shoulder-length dark blonde hair, and you are about 5"5"/5'6" tall. In short, you looked as though you belonged in the Duesenberg.

WHO WAS I? I was with a male friend. I'm 5'7" and was wearing white slacks, white shoes, navy blazer, red chalk-stripe open-neck shirt - looking rather conservative and probably very British which, in fact, I am.

It would be wonderful to find you and buy you lunch at your favorite restaurant - wherever that may be. Please, please call me, FAX me, or write. My private number is (805) 684-1334 (there is an answering machine if I'm not in); my FAX is (805) 684-8108 or you may write me in care of the company I own: c/o Broughton Hall, Inc., 136 West Canon Perdido, Santa Barbara, CA 93101.

Looking forward to hearing from you.

Sincerely, Peter

P.S. If you hesitate to respond to an ad like this, I understand - I really do - since I've never considered writing one before. But I cannot find you again unless I make this effort! What do either of us have to lose? Lunch might very well be lots of fun.

Doris Day's Best Friends

By Doris Day

Disposable pets: A sign of the times?

"I have a dog I have to get rid of,"

THAT'S A PHRASE I hear every single day of my life and it's a tragic reminder of how indifferent and insensitive we've become to the lives of our precious four-legged friends.

People part with their pets as easily as they part with a dated piece of furniture, a once-treasured item now unwanted. I'm appalled by the number of owners who cheerfully call us with the news that (1) there's a new baby in the house, (2) it's flea season, (3) they're moving, (4) their dog or cat gets out all the time—and their pet would be much better off in another home. Surely we know someone who lives on a ranch who would take their pet? Well, here's a news flash—there aren't enough ranches in the world to hold all the unwanted pets!

After all my years in animal welfare work, I've finally realized that things are getting worse, not better. People aren't spaying and neutering their pets and backyard breeders are flourishing, turning out highly inbred litters with increasingly undesirable qualities. There is a relative handful of people trying to solve these problems while the majority prefer to turn their heads and look the other way. Well, it's time for the community to understand that there simply are not enough homes for these unwanted pets. So first of all, think long and hard before you take a pet into your home. It's a lifelong responsibility, a commitment of at least 12 years to a little life. No excuses. Along with this commitment you must understand that there might be problems along the way, but you work through them just as you would with your children. There's a solution for every problem if you are willing to find it.

And that's where we can help. We can no longer assume your responsibility by taking your pet and trying to find it a new home. From now on we will try to guide you through your pet problems. If you're having trouble with fleas or pet allergies, give us a call. If your pet is having medical problems and you need assistance, phone us. If your pet has a behavior problem, we may be able to help. If you must move, we can tell you how to run ads and how to interview prospective owners—but it's up to you to find a new home for your pet.

It costs us $250 a month to board one medium-sized dog. That amounts to $3,000 per year.

For that $250 a month ,we can spay or neuter 8 dogs or cats. That's 96 pets a year who would in turn produce thousands more it they hadn't been altered. It's become obvious to me why we should spend our donations on free spaying and neutering clinics throughout the country, wherever we are needed, and I'm sure you'll agree.

The time has come for us to confront the problem of pet overpopulation. It's a problem shared by the entire community and the solution lies in a concerted effort by each one of us to take responsibility for our own pets. Think about it.

WOMAN OF THE YEAR NOMINATIONS SOUGHT

Quota Club of Monterey-Pacific Grove has announced the opening of its nomination selection for candidates for Annual Woman of the Year, to be honored in November of this year.

Every fall the local club of Quota honors a "woman of the year" who has exhibited outstanding service to the community and has strived for the betterment of the citizens of the Monterey Peninsula. This will mark the 33rd year this annual event has taken place. In the past many outstanding individuals have been chosen to receive this award, among them Virginia Stanton and Bonnie Gartshore. Last year's recipient was Artie Early.

Quota International is a nonprofit, nonpartisan, nonsectarian classified service organization of executives and professionals who are dedicated to the service of country and community. Its special focus is service to persons with hearing and speech handicaps.

Nominations for this year's Woman of the Year should be sent to: P.O. Box 2083, Monterey, CA 93942 and should be received no later than Oct. 1. A resume of the candidate should be included, along with a contact phone number for the sponsor.

La Playa gardens beckon for benefit party

LA PLAYA Hotel has always been known for its luxurious gardens, but it's never had an opportunity to showcase its beauty to the public. Until now.

This Sunday, Sept. 8, La Playa will throw open its doors and gardens for its First Annual Summer Garden Party, a community fund-raising event that will include strolling musicians, floral arranging demonstrations, seminars on gardening, a scene from Shakespeare's Romeo and Juliet, refreshments and dancing in the garden courtyard to a jazz band.

The event, which will be held from 2 to 7 p.m., is not only a benefit for Carmel's historic Outdoor Forest Theater, but a chance for La Playa to display its award-winning gardens for the public.

La Playa's executive chef, Bryan Carr, will also be showcasing his wares.

Here's a schedule of the day's events:

- 2-5 p.m. strolling garden music.
- 2:30 p.m. Assistant Head Gardener Donald Orquhart-Resistant Gardens."
- 3 p.m. Baldwin Flower Distributors, "Floral Arranging Throughout the Ages."
- 3:30 p.m. Sandra Forman, "The Art of Backyard Composting."
- 4 p.m. Crate and Barrel, "Festive Garden Entertaining and Accessories."
- 4:30 p.m. The Urban Farmer Store, "Saving Water Through Drip Irrigation."
- 5 p.m. GroveMont Theater, Carmel Shakespeare Festival, Romeo and Juliet.
- 5:30 to 7 p.m. Dancing in the garden courtyard to the B-Natural Jazz Band.

The hotel is located at Camino Real and Eighth in Carmel. Ample street parking is available and comfortable attire is suggested.

Tickets for the event are $12 in advance and $15 at the door (50 percent of that is tax deductible). For more information call La Playa Hotel at 624-6476.

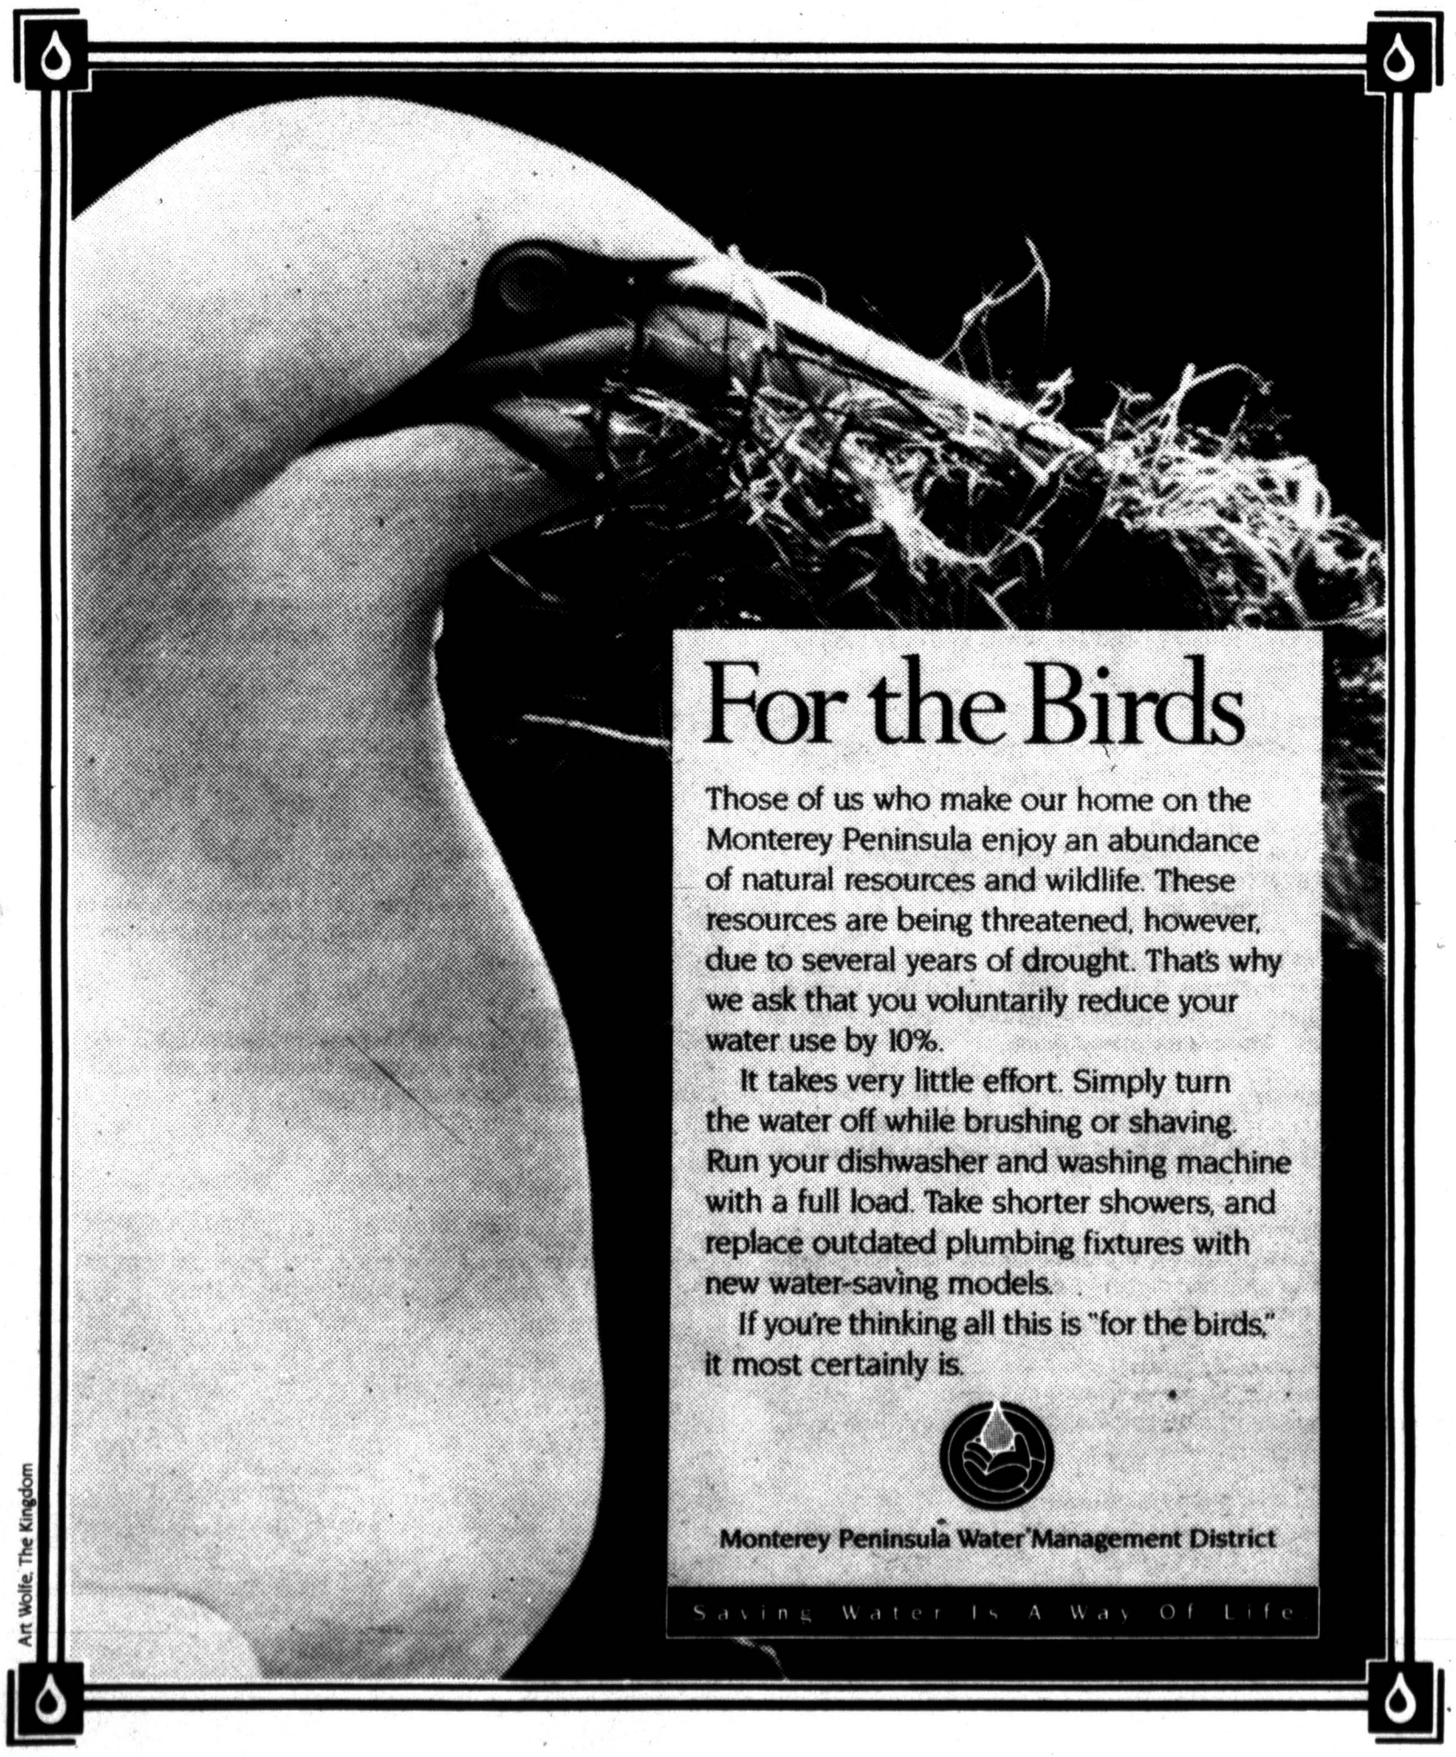

LA PLAYA Hotel's luxurious gardens will be the setting for the hotel's First Summer Garden Party, set for 2 to 7 p.m. Sunday, Sept. 8. The event, which will include garden seminars, strolling musicians, dancing, and an array of food, wine and juices, is a fund-raiser for Carmel's historic Outdoor Forest Theater. The hotel is located at Camino Real and Eighth in Carmel.

HARDEN FOUNDATION OFFERS CHALLENGE GRANT TO SPCA FOR SHELTER REMODELING

The Harden Foundation, Salinas, recently awarded a $50,000 challenge grant to The SPCA of Monterey County for the purpose of shelter renovation. The SPCA has one year in which to match the grant.

Groundbreaking ceremonies for the animal shelter and administration building will be held in conjunction with The SPCA's 85th birthday celebration on Sunday, Sept. 15. A day of animal activities will highlight the 1991 SPCA Animal Fair.

The SPCA has received funds previously from The Harden Foundation ($100,000) and successfully matched that grant. In addition, the Kinnoull Foundation has given money toward the renovation project. An additional $400,000 is anticipated to be raised by The SPCA.

Anyone wishing to make a contribution for the remodeling can do so by sending it to The SPCA of Monterey County, P.O. Box 3058, Monterey, CA 93942 or contact the Community Outreach Services Department, ext. 221 for additional information.

LOCAL VINEYARD SWEEPS MAJOR WHITE WINE CATEGORIES IN L.A. FAIR COMPETITION

Ventana Vineyards, a pioneer in Monterey County wine and a recognized leader in California viticulture has taken top honors and received special recognition at the recent international wine judging and competition that takes place each year as part of the Los Angeles County Fair.

A Gold Medal and Best of Class award went to their 1990 Sauvignon Blanc. It was then judged against all other Best of Class white wine winners and was awarded the coveted Sweepstakes Award as the finest white wine in this year's competition.

Additionally, the 1990 Ventana Dry Johannisberg Riesling received the only Gold Medal awarded this year to a varietal wine of its type. It is only the second year that the vineyard has produced a dry riesling, and the second consecutive year for Gold Medal recognition.

Known for its production of Chardonnay, the local vineyard was tied with others for top honors for their non-barrel fermented version of this wine. Ventana grapes, grown in central Monterey County, also brought multiple awards to wines produced and bottled by other wineries. Recognition for Ventana Vineyards continues to focus world attention on the viticulture capabilities of Central California, particularly those of Monterey County.

Known as the grandfather of all competitions, the L.A. County Fair represents the longest running commercial wine judging in America. It began in 1935. Last year, the decision was made to expand the competitive base beyond the geographic realm of California. Now known as "Wines of the Americas," the competition in Los Angeles has expanded to include all wines produced on the North and South American continents.

CIJI WARE

HARVARD-RADCLIFFE CLUB ELECTS FIRST WOMAN PRESIDENT

The 1,100 member Harvard-Radcliffe Club of Southern California has elected its first woman president, radio commentator and novelist Ciji Ware who was raised in Carmel. Ware's presidency marks the first time that the West Coast group has dubbed a Radcliffe graduate its leader of the merged clubs. The nonprofit organization provides financial and other assistance to Harvard University, of which Radcliffe College is a full partner since its merger with Harvard College in 1976. The club also raises funds for scholarships awarded to students from Southern California attending the Eastern institution and bestows its annual John Harvard Award for distinguished community service. Past recipients have included former Los Angeles Times Arts and Entertainment Editor Charles Champlin, innovative calculus teacher Jaime Escalante, and Heal-The-Bay founder Felicia Marcus. Ware, who graduated from Harvard-Radcliffe with a degree in Renaissance History in 1964, has broadcast daily as Health and Lifetsyle commentator on KABC Radio for fifteen years. She has been an on-air television reporter for all three local television affliates as well as produced, written and hosted her own public affairs program on KCET-TV. She is the recipient of numerous awards, including a local Emmy, a Silver Gavel from the American Bar Association, and the DuPont award for an expose of the lead industry for her journalism work. She also won Best Fictionalized Biography for her 18th century historical novel Island of the Swans in 1989 from Romantic Times Magazine, and will publish Once Upon A Wicked Stage with Bantam Books in 1992, an historical novel about a group of British women playwrights whose works were produced at Covent Garden and Drury Lane theaters between 1760-80. Ware, born in Pasadena and raised in Carmel, California, lives with her husband, journalist/screenwriter Anthony Cook in Beverly Hills. Her son, Jamie Ware Billett, is a freshmen at Harvard. Her late father ,Harlan Ware, was a novelist and wrote the radio classic One Man's Family for 14 years. Her late mother, Ruth Seitz Ware, graduated from Radcliffe in 1929 and was active in the Radcliffe Club of Pasadena for many years.

Back to school a time of challenge for students

Millions of kids will be going back to school this fall. For many it will be a happy time of reunions with friends. But for some it means having to cope with parental expectations and the anxiety of being accepted by other teens.

"We're seeing more and more teens who can't cope with the stress of peer pressure, and with the increasing breakdown of the family unit, they're left with few options for real guidance," says Sister Mary Rose McGeady, who heads Covenant House, one of the nation's largest privately funded and operated child care agencies.

"The way some teens deal with this problem is to simply fade out and withdraw," Sister Mary Rose says. "The kids begin to wonder just what makes graduating school worth the effort. Unfortunately, many drift into substance abuse or drop out of school altogether. It's important that what may have once been family talk around the dinner table be continued, somehow, into young adulthood."

Sister Mary Rose and other child care experts say dropping out of school has become a "simple, no-sweat solution" for thousands of teens. But this "easy solution" often condemns teens to a lifetime of poverty and misery.

Officials estimate that one million teens drop out of high school each year. Many never acquire usable job skills and survive on welfare. Of the nation's poor, children represent 40 percent. Even the lucky ones who do find jobs are far behind in job placement and salary than their friends who earned a high school diploma.

The best way to prevent teens from dropping out is to recognize the early signs of "fade-out." Often, simple communications between parents and teens can help prevent a youngster from leaving school. Sister Mary Rose also offers these tips:

*Find an activity you and your teen can do together; make an effort to spend time with them.

*Listen, and view your teen as an individual — tolerate differences. This doesn't mean you can't voice your opinion if you disagree.

*Always state facts rather than opinions when criticizing. "The song you wrote for class makes me want to dance" is a fact from your heart; "You're a great musician" leaves a big image for your teen to live up to.

*Never trivialize your teen's feelings or concerns. It doesn't help them to know that they'll soon feel differently.

*Trust your teen to "do the right thing" after you've offered advice and guidance. Don't step in unless you have to.

For more information on dealing with teen issues, call the Covenant House Nineline toll free, 24 hours a day at 1-800-999-9999. Covenant House provides food, shelter, clothing, medical care, counseling and other vital services to more than 20,000 needy youngsters each year throughout its 14 sites in the U.S., Canada and Latin America.

Homes needed for visiting teachers

Families in our area are needed to host Australian and New Zealand teachers, school administrators and librarians for an 11-day period during Jan. 1992, according to the American Host Foundation.

Now in its 28th year, American Host has opened doors to better understanding for more than 16,000 overseas teachers and librarians who have shared their new understanding of the United States with students, colleagues and friends when they returned to their homelands.

Being a host family is open to anyone who has the desire to help increase international friendship and understanding. A host family provides a private room and meals for their guests and gives the opportunity to meet friends and see the local sights and attractions.

A new concept that is being introduced to the program is the Extended Host Family. This simply means that the host family arranges with service clubs, church groups and others to share the experience and to serve as backup to the primary host family who makes the arrangements.

The American Host Foundation arranges transportation to and from overseas, but host families are asked to meet their guests upon arrival in their area.

Visitors and host families have the opportunity to correspond and become acquainted by mail a month prior to the visit.

American Host Foundation is the only nonprofit, nongovernmental program designed to show the American way of life to overseas teachers and librarians through pairing them with American families. The program is nonpolitical and nonsectarian.

Anyone interested in being a host family or learning more about the program should write to American Host Foundation, P.O. Box 803, Garden Grove, CA 92642.

Scholarships offered to high schoolers

State Superintendent of Public Instruction Bill Honig announces an opportunity for juniors and seniors holding elective offices in California public or private high schools to receive a $2,000 scholarship and a trip to Washington, D.C.

The scholarship and trip are part of the United States Senate Youth Program, designed to honor students for their leadership, community involvement, and academic achievement. This program, established in 1962 by Senate Resolution 324 and funded through the William Randolph Hearst Foundation, provides scholarships for high school juniors or seniors from each of the 50 states, the District of Columbia, and the Department of Defense Overseas Dependent Schools. The delegates will visit Washington, D.C., February 1-8, 1992, for an "insider's view" of the government, particularly the U.S. Senate.

For more information regarding the U.S. Senate Youth Program, contact Ira Clark in the department's History-Social Science Unit at (916) 323-0959. Those seeking information regarding applications should contact their local high school principal.

The Golden Years

By Myles Williams

Dealing with health insurance paperwork is an annoying "side effect" for elderly people when they consult a doctor. But Federal law has brought some relief: Claims for Medicare reimbursements now must be filed by the doctor, not the patient. This applies whether or not a physician accepts reimbursement levels set by Medicare. After a claim is processed, the patient receives by mail a form called "Explanation of Medicare Benefits" which tells how much Medicare has paid for the claim and how much is the patient's responsibility. Many people carry other health insurance to supplement Medicare. For some, the next step is to send a copy of the Medicare Explanation of Benefits to the supplemental insurer in order to collect whatever additional payment the supplement policy provides. It's wise to keep records of each doctor bill and the status of reimbursement by Medicare and supplemental insurance.

Henry Miller retrospective celebrates writer's centennial

By JOHN DETRO

THE SPIRIT of Henry Miller must be wearing that wide, lopsided smile today.

Henry was a full-time resident of Big Sur from June 1942 till 1959. In a very real sense, the author and visual artist is coming home.

A Centennial Retrospective of his paintings will be exhibited at Big Sur's Coast Gallery from Saturday, Sept. 7 through Nov. 17. Also, a book memorializing this major exhibit has been issued by Coast Publishing and should be available in local shops Sept. 15.

'When you put your mind to such a simple, innocent thing as the making of a watercolor, you lose some of the anguish which derives from being a member of a world gone mad.'

— Henry Miller

Coast spokesperson Sharon Bates says the exhibit represents the largest collection of Miller's art ever presented in this country. "It will include more than 100 original paintings and drawings," she said, "and a score of prints plus a large collection of photographs and Miller memorabilia (unpublished manuscripts, letters, first editions, his brushes, so on) never before on public view."

Henry wrote: "When you put your mind to such a simple, innocent thing as the making of a watercolor, you lose some of the anguish which derives from being a member of a world gone mad. Whether you paint flowers, stars, horses or angels, you acquire respect and admiration for all the elements that go to make up our universe."

Yes, what a homecoming. Unveiled at the exhibition as the Centennial Collection will be the first prints of Henry Miller serigraphs published posthumously by Coast in collaboration with Miller's son, Tony, who still lives in Big Sur.

The limited edition serigraphs also will be exhibited — concurrently — at Coast Gallery's Pebble Beach outpost in The Lodge.

"The watercolor," Henry wrote, "has affinities with the sonnet, or the haiku, rather than the jeremiad. It captures the flux and essence, the flavor and perfume, rather than the substance."

The new book's title: Henry Miller — The Paintings, A Centennial Retrospective. This 128-page four-color offering "transcends an exhibition catalogue in that each watercolor reproduction is highlighted by excerpts from his own writings on art," Bates said, "or by personal commentary by the collectors who include his immediate family and close friends."

The book costs $25. It contains useful remarks by Tony Miller and Gary Koeppel of Coast Galleries and Coast Publishing (Gary was Miller's last artist's representative).

The Big Sur showcase is 30 miles south of Carmel on Highway 1. Information: 800-842-6278.

Let the last word here belong to Henry: "In the humblest object we can find whatever it is we seek, be it beauty, truth, reality, divinity. The artist does not create these qualities, he discovers them, or uncovers them, in the process of doing."

JERUSALEM, a watercolor by Henry Miller, will be produced as a limited edition serigraph for the Coast Gallery tribute. The prints are published by Coast in collaboration with Miller's son, Tony, a Big Sur resident.

ARTS & LEISURE

HENRY MILLER, the author and painter, is portrayed here by Robin Coventry. A Centennial Retrospective of his paintings can be viewed Sept. 7 through Nov. 17 at Coast Gallery in Big Sur, as well as Coast Gallery at the Lodge in Pebble Beach.

Children's Experimental Theatre to register students this weekend

THE 32ND year of the Children's Experimental Theatre begins with registration Sept. 7 from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. Children's Experimental Theatre's home is the Indoor Forest Theatre, under the summer outdoor stage, at Santa Rita and Mountain View in Carmel-by-the-Sea.

Children's Experimental Theatre focuses on the skills and confidence of its young actors in classes for students ages 6-18. The crafts of theatre: speech, movement, improvisation, pantomime, dance, stage combat, and theater games are used in all classes.

Each Saturday class has its own play in the spring, often written specifically for them. Folk and fairy tales, myths and legends, historical events and dramatic classics are the material from which CET's scripts are drawn. The Spring Festival of all class performances is presented in June.

Second year CET students are eligible to be part of Traveling Troupe, a play with 5 or 6 duplicate casts, touring live performances to elementary schools all over Monterey County. Last year, Puss in Boots traveled. In 1991-92, Hansel and Gretel (CET's first touring production 25 years ago) will be shared, free of charge, with a minimum of 25,000 students.

CET makes the assumption that all children are gifted, and that a non-judgmental, accepting and exploring atmosphere allows all manner of youngsters to investigate theatre as a means of expressing themselves. In the hands of experienced, highly trained staff, the 30-plus years of CET on the peninsula have allowed all sorts of participating young people from potential professionals to dabblers, to explore and be part of this universal human art. (Some partial grants, based on financial need, may be applied for.)

CET graduates have often returned to perform in the school's major fund-raising activity, the Staff Players Repertory Company. Parts are open to all interested adults, and a season of five dramatic classics creates a sort of theatre museum of engrossing, seldom-performed masterpieces of world literature. For the last five years a season ticket has made SPRC productions a real bargain.

For further information about the coming year for youngsters or theatre-minded adults, call 624-1531.

Hidden Valley dance classes begin

HIDDEN VALLEY Dance Center has launched its fall program. Classes begin Monday, Sept. 9 with preregistration by mail or in person. A fully graded curriculum for the professional and nonprofessional dancer aged 4 to adult will be presented. Classes will be offered in classical ballet, pointe, floor barre, jazz, and tap.

Fran Spector, now in her fourth year as head of the ballet division, will teach ballet, pointe, and floor barre. Other teaching staff includes Meryl Robertson, creative dance and pre-ballet; Susan Cable, jazz and tap; Virginia Bell, jazz; and Lucretia Butler, tap.

New to the program this year will be an Apprentice Dance Ensemble. Beginning in October, Hidden Valley Dance Center will form an Apprentice Ensemble for students aged ten and up. Auditions are open to all area students who take a minimum of three classes per week and can commit to rehearsals on Saturdays from 1 to 3 p.m.

Deborah and Walter White will present their five-week ballroom dance session beginning on Oct. 20. Classes are held on Sundays with classes for beginners and those wishing to learn variations on the basic ballroom steps. The session will end with a dinner dance on Nov. 24.

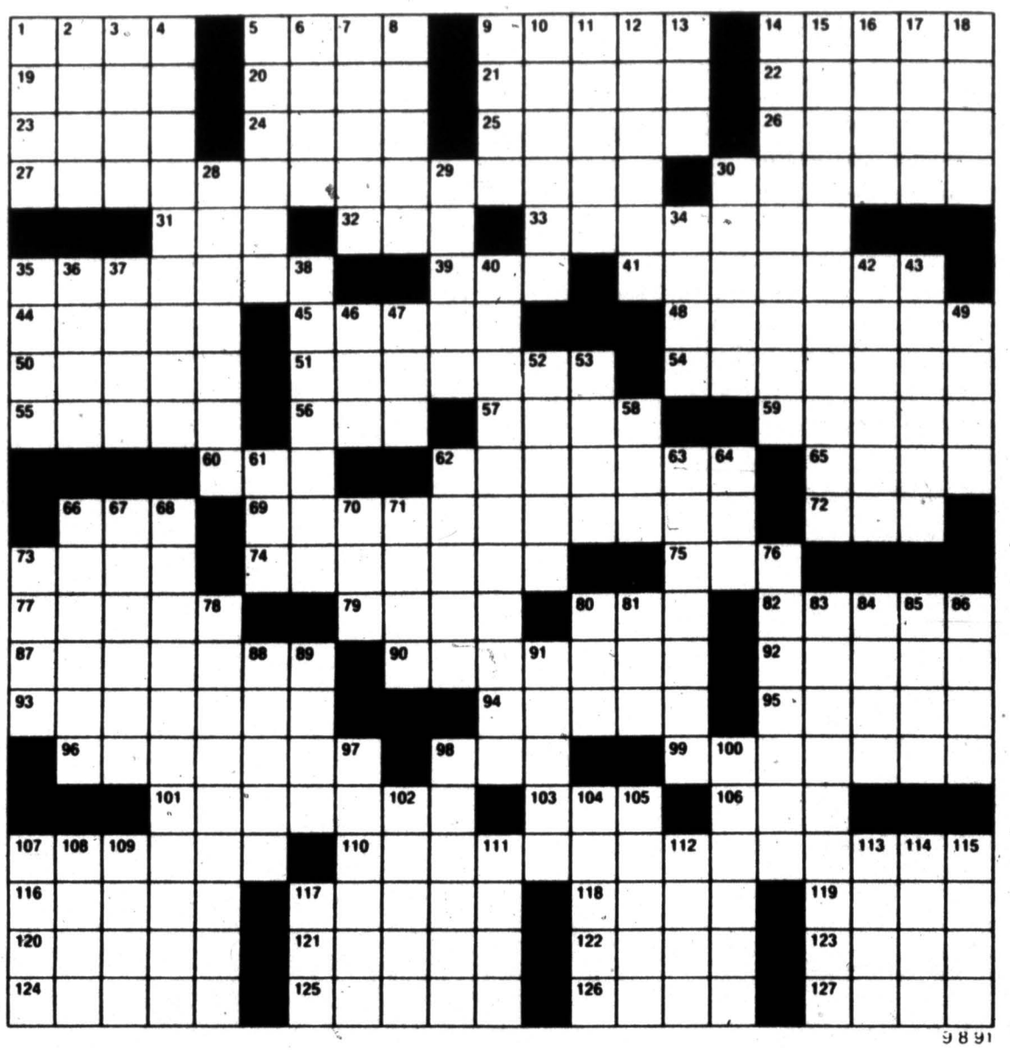

A brochure with schedule and fee information is available on request. Call 659-3115 for brochure and registration information.

Gordon Mortensen's reduction woodcuts exhibited

A SURVEY of reduction woodcuts by Gordon Mortensen will be displayed Sept. 7 through 27 at the Carl Cherry Foundation.

The exhibit will include text and examples detailing Mortensen's print-making process—from the initial basswood carving with an exacto knife, to stenciling and multiple printings—until the image has been built up in its entirety and the surface of the wood reduced.

Beginning with a watercolor sketch, the Pebble Beach artist incorporates approximately 23 to 47 colors in his woodcuts and executes between 20-35 press runs on handmade Japanese mulberry paper.

A native of Arnegard, North Dakota, Mortensen received a bachelor of fine arts from the Minneapolis College of Art and Design in 1964, and did postgraduate work at the University of Minnesota.

His woodcuts are on display in numerous private collections, over 100 corporate collections and 20 museums including the National Museum of American Art in Washington, D.C., the Library of Congress, the U.S. Embassy in Tokyo; they can also be seen at First Impressions Gallery in Carmel.

A reception for the artist will be held Saturday, Sept. 7 from 2:30 to 4:30 p.m. at the Cherry Foundation gallery, Fourth and Guadalupe, Carmel. A video profiling Mortensen and his work will be screened during the reception.

The exhibit is made possible, in part, through grants from the Monterey County Cultural Council, the City of Carmel-by-the-Sea, the A.T.&T. Youth Fund and through private donations.

THE REDUCTION woodcuts of Gordon Mortensen will be on display at the Carl Cherry Foundation Sept. 7 through 27. A reception for Mortensen—along with a 30-minute video profiling the artist's life and work—will be presented Saturday, Sept. 7 from 2:30 to 4:30 p.m. at the Cherry Foundation. For more information, call 624-7491. (Photo by Benjamin Pobst).

Cherry Foundation gallery hours are 11 to 4 p.m., Monday through Friday, or by appointment. For more information, call 624-7491.

SPCA to celebrate 85th birthday this Sept. 15

JOIN IN the fun on Sunday, Sept. 15 from noon to 4 p.m. when the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals of Monterey County, A Humane Society, celebrates its 85th birthday. Admission is free.

Established in 1905, the SPCA is one of the oldest nonprofits in the county. It has been at its present location since 1967.

The Animal Fair is a day full of activities and the whole family, including the pets, are invited to partake in the festivities. Entertainment will include a jazz concert at noon by Youth Music Monterey, Michelle Noseworthy, executive director. The concert will be followed by several animal demonstrations, to include an Obedience Dog Training demonstration by the Mixed Breed Dog Club of California, Terri Nash of Carmel, coordinator; the "Beagle Brigade" of the U.S. Dept. of Agriculture which will demonstrate the use of beagles in action as a method to control illegal entry of agriculture into the U.S.; and the traditional Blessing of the Animals by Father Craig Lister of St. Dunstan's Episcopal Church.

A special pet contest will take place at approximately 2:45 p.m. with ribbons presented to the winners in such categories as Waggiest Tail, Longest Ears, Longest Tail, Closest to the Ground, Best Groomed, Farthest from the Ground, Prettiest Eyes, Most Colorful and Muttiest Looking. Judges will include Mark Carbanaro of KOCN FM 105 and Jim Adamson of KSBW TV8. Both of these personalities will cohost the entire day.

Several local nonprofits will have informational booths, to include the Monterey Caged Bird Club, Ventana Wilderness Society/Santa Cruz Predatory Research Group, Animal Affairs Council, Friends of Monterey County Wildlife, Friends of the Sea Otter, and C.H.A.P.S. Other participants will include the Ralston Purina Company, Rx for Fleas, Kindred Spirits Dog Obedience Training and the California Department of Fish and Game. The Monterey Bay Search Dogs will have a continuous demonstration of their dogs' work in rescuing people in distress. Other activities include face painting by the clowns from the Buddy program.

Fairgoers are invited to give the SPCA a birthday present by bringing items which can be resold in one of three SPCA benefit shops. The items must be in good and working condition and any donated clothes must be clean and wearable. Such gifts are tax deductible to the extent provided by law.

Fairgoers are also encouraged to bring a picnic lunch, since no food other than popcorn and sodas will be available at the fair. Of particular note is the cutting of an 8'x16' homemade birthday cake. The SPCA is asking residents to donate a 9"x12" unfrosted cake to help make the large cake. A baker in Salinas will be at the fair to decorate the cake once it has been assembled. To donate an unfrosted cake, call the community outreach services department, ext. 221 for details.

Ground will be broken at the fair for the remodeling and renovation of the animal shelter and administration building. Seed money to begin the work has been received from the Harden Foundation, Salinas and the Kinnoull Foundation, as well as from SPCA members. Additional funds are currently being sought to complete the project. Involved in the ground-breaking will be those individuals who were a part of the SPCA when it moved from a small house in New Monterey to its present location. These Monterey County residents include Ev Nolt, Pip Hastings, Jean Wilder, Dottie Jones, Cynthia Branch, Sherry May, George Leland, and Gwen May, the SPCA's first executive director .

"It's a day when everyone can enjoy what animals do for us," says Jim Bennett, manager of community outreach services. "There are not many events in our community where the family dog or cat can participate. This is such an event. We encourage you to bring your animals to the fair."

The SPCA of Monterey County is located at 1002 Monterey Salinas Highway 68, across from entrance to Laguna Seca RecreationArea.

Santa Rosalia Festival returns

THE ANNUAL Santa Rosalia festival will be held Sunday, Sept. 8. The Queen's Coronation Ball will kickoff the event and will be held on Saturday, Sept. 7 at the San Carlos Cathedral Hall. No host cocktails are at 6:30 p.m. with dinner served at 8:00 p.m. Tickets are available by calling 372-9118.

The festival will also sponsor a Bocce Tournament this year on Saturday, Sept. 7 at the Custom House Plaza. The tournament will start at 8 a.m. and run till approximately 4:30 p.m.

The main activities will take place on Sunday, Sept. 8. There will be a procession through downtown Monterey commencing at 9:45 a.m. to kickoff that days activities. Spectators can best view the parade from Alvarado Street. The procession will start at the Cathedral Hall on Church Street and make its way through Monterey to the Custom House Plaza, where fishermen wearing traditional tasseled stocking caps will carry the statue of Santa Rosalia to the end of Fishermen's Wharf.

At 10:30 a.m., there will be a blessing of the fishing fleet and the pleasure craft in the Monterey Harbor. The queen of the Santa Rosalia Festival, who is installed at the Queen Coronation Ball on Saturday, will lay a wreath of flowers in the ocean in memory of fishermen lost at sea.

After the blessing of the fleet, there will be an outdoor ~ass at the Custom House Plaza. Immediately afterward, there will be traditional Italian food specialties and entertainment.

This festival represents a colorful bit of Monterey history originating in 1935 when the first festival to honor Santa Rosalia—patron saint of Sicilian fishermen—was organized. The Italian Heritage Society, which represents all local Italian-American clubs and associations, sponsors the annual event which attracts enthusiastic visitors from all over California.

Santa Rosalia was a Sicilian noblewoman of German origin who renounced all her worldly riches to become a recluse nun in the Sicilian mountains, where she went to meditate. She is credited with saving countless shipwrecked fishermen.

For more information call 372-9118.

ROUNDUP

'Law for the Citizen' announced

Monterey College of Law will be presenting a short course, "Law for the Citizen." The eight-class series offers a practical explanation of legal rights and obligations under California law. It is designed to take the mystique out of the legal system, and to improve public understanding of and appreciation for the legal system and the principles behind the law. Subjects to be covered include consumer protection, contracts, personal injury, real estate, dissolution of marriage, and several others.

"Law for the Citizen" will be offered 6:30 to 9:30 p.m. Tuesdays, Sept. 10 through Oct. 29. It will be taught at Santa Catalina School in Monterey. For more information, call 373-3301.

SPCA needs towels, blankets, paper

The SPCA of Monterey County, needs towels, sheets, blankets, pillowcases and newspaper for use in the animal shelter and wildlife center.

Blankets are used as comforters for the many puppies who are brought into the shelter.

The greatest demand is for clean towels in both the shelter and especially the wildlife center.

Newspapers are used in the cat litter pans.

Donated items can be delivered to The SPCA of Monterey County animal shelter, 1002 Monterey Salinas Highway 68 (five miles east of the Monterey Peninsula Airport), any day of the week between 9 a.m. and 5 p.m. If the donor has a significant quantity and cannot deliver the items, arrangements can be made to pick them up.

For further information, call 373-2631, ext. 221.

Stress management taught

Feeling overwhelmed by stress? Learn how to strengthen your coping skills in a class, "Stress Management — Keeping All the Pieces Together," being offered at Community Hospital of the Monterey Peninsula.

The class will take place Wednesdays, 7 to 9 p.m., through Sept. 11, in the hospital's Terrace Pavilion Library.

Instructors will be registered nurses Barbara Parker and Nancy Moran.

Fee is $40, and participants may bring a friend or family member at no extra charge. To register or for more information, call 625-4708.

Lunch hour yoga taught

Tri-Yoga Fitness Formulas are now being offered from noon to 1 p.m. Monday, Wednesday and Friday at the Tri-Yoga Academy of Carmel, located in Room 17 at Sunset Center, 10th and San Carlos, Carmel.

Stretching and strengthening exercises, complete breathing and dynamic concentration, and deep relaxation are included in each class. Each class contains a complete fitness program, and the classes are ongoing. Students may take any or all of the classes.

Other Tri-Yoga classes meet every weekday at the academy, at 6:15 a.m., 7 a.m. and 6 p.m., and on Saturdays at 9 a.m. Additionally, there are now classes at 9 a.m. on Tuesdays and Thursdays.

Class fees are $7 for one class; $35 for six classes; $75 for unlimited classes per month. Discounts are given to students and senior citizens. For additional information, call 624-4949, 649-2394 or 625-9854.

Choral Society seeks singers

The Monterey Peninsula Choral Society will prepare for its Christmas concert, scheduled Dec. 6 and 7 in the Carmel Mission Basilica.

Rehearsals start Tuesday, Sept. 17. The group will rehearse from 7 to 10 p.m. Tuesdays in the Church of Religious Science, Franklin and Pacific streets, Monterey. Music director and conductor is Barney Hulse.

For more information, call 375-0213 or 649-6772.

Cherry Foundation screens artwork

The Carl Cherry Foundation will be screening artwork in all media for the 1992 exhibit season on Monday, Sept. 9 at the foundation's gallery.

Artists, sculptors, potters and photographers are encouraged to submit traditional as well as experimental artwork to the screening.

Three examples from the artist's portfolio, a resume and slides should be submitted before Sept. 9.

The Cherry Foundation encourages experimental as well as educational exhibits, with an emphasis on artwork that seeks to cast light on contemporary issues, both aesthetic and social. The foundation also invites established artists exploring new avenues in their work to submit for 1992.

The Cherry Foundation is located at the corners of Fourth and Guadalupe, Carmel. The gallery hours are from 11 a.m. to 4 p.m., Monday through Friday.

For more information, call 624-7491.

Monterey Bay Symphony launches season pass sale

THE MONTEREY Bay Symphony Association has launched a campaign called "Project 600." Goal of the campaign, which will last throughout the month of September, is to sell a total of 600 season passes for the upcoming season of the Monterey Bay Chamber Orchestra.

Beginning with its first concert on Nov. 3, the season will consist of four concerts, conducted by Michael Nowak. All four concerts will take place on Sunday afternoons at 4 p.m. in Carmel's Sunset Center, which has a seating capacity of 733. The November concert will consist of an all-Mozart program, featuring violinist Kathleen Lenski and Maestro Nowak in the Symphonia Concertante. Also on the program will be the Overture to The Impresario, in honor of impresario Tibor Rudas, who brought Luciano Pavarotti to Pebble Beach earlier this year. The Monterey Bay Symphony provided the orchestral support for the Pavarotti concert.

The program will conclude with the Serenade No. 2 in F Major and the Symphony No. 29 in A Major.

The next concert, on Feb. 23, will feature oboist Allan Vogel in Marcello's Concerto for Oboe and Strings in C Minor and Vaughan Williams' Concerto for Oboe and Strings in A Minor. The program will begin with Handel's Concerto Grosso (Op. 6, No. 12) and end with Respighi's Ancient Airs and Dances (Suite No. 3).

The third concert, on April 5, will be the season's chamber music concert featuring ensembles from the orchestra in Gabrieli's Canzon Noni Toni a 12, Albinoni's Sonata San Marco, Barber's Summer Music, and Mozart's String Quintet in D Major.

The season will end on June 7 with a program consisting of Stravinsky's Dumbarton Oaks in E Flat Major, Faure's Incidental Music to Pelleas & Melisande, Elgar's Serenade for Strings, and Boyce's Symphony No. 7 in B Flat Major.

Season passes are $45 each, and seating is open. Motivating the campaign is the financial stress put on the symphony association by its introduction of the summer series of free outdoor pops concerts at the Naval Postgraduate School. Donations that in the past helped to cover the expenses of the chamber orchestra season now must also help pay for the pops concerts.

The symphony association has sold about 350 season passes each year for the past several seasons. To help make up for the increased expenses, it now must sell at least 250 more season passes. In budgeting income and expenses prior to each season, the association cannot count on "walk in" ticket sales at the box office in the hour before a concert. If the association does not meet its goal of 600, therefore, it may have to cancel the 1991-1992 season of its chamber orchestra. In that event, all money received for 1991-1992 season passes will be refunded.

Uniquely among local music organizations, the Monterey Bay Symphony's orchestras use the resident professional musicians that Maestro Haymo Taeuber recruited during his 17 years as music director of the Monterey County Symphony. These musicians provide the orchestral backing for local choral and opera groups. The Pavarotti concert very likely would not have occurred, in fact, if the Monterey Bay Symphony, with its strong core of resident professional musicians, were not available to provide the orchestral support for it. The symphony association thus urges the community to come to its support now in its "season of need" by purchasing season passes for—and attending—the 19911992 concerts of the Monterey Bay Chamber Orchestra.

Jazz Tides

Movin' on

NEWSBREAK: Carmel Art Association plans a new series of free jazz concerts at its gallery. First event will occur Thursday evening (9/12) at seven o'clock. The quartet: Webber Drummond (piano), Joe Lucido (guitar), Bryan McConnell (bass), Andy Weis (drums).

HOW'S THIS for timing? Last week's column cited the Monterey Bay Turntable All-Stars — jazz broadcasters who do an exceptionally good job. As soon as that highly subjective prose hit the streets, Program Director Suzanne Dobkin of KAZU Radio said deejay Don Balestrieri had resigned. Don ("he makes each of his shows feel like a magical occasion") confirmed. Reason: moving up to Washington State.

So Suzanne welcomes calls (375-7275) from persons interested in perhaps filling Don's slot on Saturdays from 3-6 p.m. "We usually ask for a demo tape," she said. "I'd enjoy chatting with folks about what should go on it. And I'll gladly answer any questions."

HIGHLY CREATIVE jazz pianist Milcho Leviev, world traveler who lives in Southern California and visits friends here as often as possible, will work out at Shanty Malone's of Valley Hills Center on Saturday and Sunday evenings (9/7-8). The shows require separate tickets ($10 apiece at the door — or call 626-0604 for advance ducats at $8 per).

Saturday's offering starts at six o'clock with a solo hour. Then Milcho will play with trumpeter Ron Coolidge, Terry Miller (electric bass) and Pete Booras (drums) till midnight.

Sunday's sets will run from 6-10 p.m. Solo hour first. Next it's Leviev plus Kenny Stahl (flute), Stuart Zimney (acoustic bass), John Goldsmith (drums).

The star has recorded with dozens of jazz giants and tours regularly in Europe and Japan.

MONARCH ENTERTAINMENT Group (Mike Evans, Dave Svec) operates out of Carmel. Their Pacific Jazz Series comes on with an eclectic presentation Saturday night (9/8) at Hyatt Regency Grand Ballroom. It's a fascinating mix, to say the least.

Opening the seven o'clock show — singer/guitarist Kenny Rankin. He'll be followed by ace conguero and bandleader Poncho Sanchez. And topping the bill will be Grammy-winning guitarist Larry Carlton.

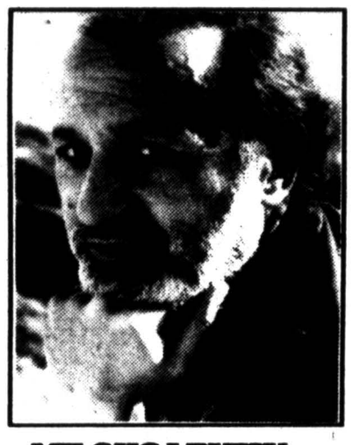

Ducats cost $18 per. Advance treatment: Doc Ricketts' Lab, Recycled Records, Do Re Mi Music, Ticketmaster. At the door too (place opens at six).

Mike and Dave plan picnic-type productions at the Laguna Seca Amphitheater. That facility's not ready yet, so they hooked up with the Hyatt Regency folks.

THE TASTY trio fronted by keyboardist James Forkner — Boppa Nova — has started its third year at Kiewel's Restaurant in Heritage Harbor. This unit plays for Sunday brunch (11-3) and it's a mellow scene on the outdoor deck overlooking bay, boats, bike path, bright strollers.

James impresses this listener with his assured quietude and refined jazz harmonics. Entirely self-taught, he has Carl LoSchiavo on electric bass (solid groove) and drummer Mike Firstman (noteworthy brush solos). Their book includes Oliver Nelson and Bill Evans tunes as well as Ellington.

MILCHO LEVIEV

It's significant that James invites promising youngsters to sit in. (His 15-year-old son Adam plays trumpet and has many teen musician buddies.) My last visit two Sundays ago coincided with the guest appearance of trumpeter David Krimsley, 15 and leader for the jazz combo at Pacific Grove High.

David used his mute in doing ballad and blues work. He got some top-drawer advice from Carl: "You play well. Do it with real conviction. Don't hold back." And that's why students need to be up there on the stand beside pros. No better way.

James also welcomes such full-grown guests as flugelhornist Brian Stock, Kevin Parker on alto sax, Joseph Lucido and guitar. Boppa Nova has just begun playing the Kiewel's Happy Hour from 5-7 p.m. Fridays.

Jazz broadcaster Johnny Adams of KRML Radio was among the Sunday strollers. He said he'll be heading for Canada this month to handle a role in Clint Eastwood's new movie — a Western starring Gene Hackman and Morgan Freeman. As you may recall, Adams played a bartender in the Eastwood-directed film bio on Bird Parker.

SAN FRANCISCO Blues Festival opens at noon Friday (9/13) with the annual free concert at Justin Herman Plaza there. Claudette King, daughter of

PONCHO SANCHEZ...Hyatt gig

B.B., will appear with her band Project Five. Others: Luther Tucker, Gary Smith, the Johnny Adams from New Orleans, Nick Gravenites (old pal and Monterey Peninsula resident from the '60s).

And then at Fort Mason Great Meadow on Saturday (9/14) — Etta James, John Hammond, Dirty Dozen Brass Band, Clarence Gatemouth Brown, Joanna Connor Band, Carey Bell and Tough Luck, Guitar Sims and the Fillmore Rockers.

Same site on Sunday (9/15) — B.B. King, Queen Ida, Otis Clay and Chicago Fire, Rory Block, Snooky Prior and John Nicholas, William Clarke Band, Paramount Singers, Imam Omar Sharriff.

Ticketmaster's the contact. General info: (415) 979-5588. This's the 19th such fest.

SIGHT BITES: Booker Richard Armbrust says the next Fridays at 8:00 Music Series in Hidden Valley Theater will run Oct. 4-Feb. 7.

• Kuumbwa Jazz Center in Santa Cruz spotlights the quartet of guitarist Mike Stern and tenorman Bob Berg on Monday night (9/9). It's $14 per; 7:30 and 9:30.

• Monterey Peninsula Jazz Orchestra has ended its run at Sharky's. Honcho Eric Tonn promises the announcement as soon as a pact has been signed with a new venue.

• Monterey Plaza Hotel lists Roger Eddy's band as the unit for noon Sunday (9/8). Lower terrace.

• Monterey Bay Club — Terry Hanck (9/6-7), Jackie Coon Quartet (9/10-11).

• Dave Brubeck plays Buena Vista Winery in Sonoma on Sunday evening (9/8). Call 800-273-4416.

Triple play

MONARCH PRODUCTIONS will continue its Pacific Jazz Series with a dynamite show featuring jazz fusion guitarist Larry Carlton, salsa conguero extraordinaire Poncho Sanchez and folk-pop jazzster Kenny Rankin at 7 p.m. Sunday, Sept. 8 at the Hyatt Regency Monterey.

This show will kick off the bookers' first foray into the Hyatt's Grand Ballroom, known more for its hoity-toity fund-raisers and down-and-dirty boxing matches. According to Monarch's Mike Evans, their venue at Laguna Seca isn't quite ready to host night-time shows, so they've gone ahead and booked shows at the Hyatt.

Carlton is known as the guitarist's guitarist, at much at ease in fluid pop as he is in funky jazz. He first gained prominence as a five-year member of the near-legendary Crusaders, but also played session guitar for acts as diverse as Steely Dan, Joni Mitchell, Dolly Parton, Jerry Garcia, Sammy Davis Jr., John Lennon, Bobby Blue Bland and Linda Ronstadt. He has appeared on more than 100 gold albums and won Grammys for the theme to Hill Street Blues (with Mike Post), and for his version of Michael McDonald's Minute by Minute.

Carlton came back strong a year after he was shot and wounded by an intruder at his home in 1986, releasing the acclaimed On Solid Ground. His latest is a retrospective of his career from the '70s to the '90s, Collection, and is a good start for someone unfamiliar with his playing (although that may difficult, he's recorded with so many people).

Poncho Sanchez' music was once described as "polyrhythmic Latin bang." I couldn't have said it better myself. A dynamic leader and performer player and a conga Sanchez without peer, been a has always artist at a popular local jazz variety of including at venues, Jazz the Monterey percussive Festival. His band is one horn-driven Latin units of the best see, hear you'll ever may turn and feel. This best part of out to be the show. the three-act

LARRY CARLTON

Rankin, jazz-inflected vocalist and guitarist, is known primarily for his soft-focus interpretations of Beatles' tunes (Blackbird, etc.), and his own Top 10 hit, Peaceful.

Other shows being considered for the Hyatt: Ottmar Leibert and Acoustic Alchemy Oct. 2; Tuck & Patti Oct. 11; Jim Carrey and Tommy Chong (of Cheech and Chong fame), Oct. 12 and sometime in late October, Lee Ritenour and Bob James. A possible gig in September could involve a BIG name in the music biz, someone who's getting as famous for his soda commercials as his song classics.

Tickets for the above shows are available through all BASS outlets. Tickets for Carlton et al are $18 either in advance or at the door. Credit card orders taken by phone at 649-4241. Info's at 655-3206.

UPCOMING EVENTS with a musical bent on the Monterey Peninsula and outlying areas:

• M & A Production brings in another high-spirited gospel show, this time featuring Spencer Taylor and the Highway QC's of Chicago, 8 p.m. Saturday, Sept. 7 at the Pacific Grove Middle School Auditorium. Opening will be Sons of the Soul Revivers. In gospel circles the Highway QC's, which was formed more than 40 years ago and has counted Johnny Taylor and R&B legend Sam Cooke among its members, is known for its hit, Since Jesus Came Into My Heart.

Melvin and Audrey Williams have brought several high-quality gospel shows to the area, but are seeking stronger support from fans of the genre. If you like energetic and passionate music with a spiritual message (and great fun besides), these are the shows to see and support. Tickets are $10 in advance, $12 at the door (children 7-12, $5), and are available at Bookworks and Lighthouse Records in PG; Recycled Records in New Monterey; and Do Re Mi Music and Kingdom Come Bible Store in Carmel. For information call 899-3950. Upcoming shows include a return engagement by Arthur Crume & the Soul Stirrers on Sept. 27.

• The Eighth Annual Monterey Peninsula Jazz Art Show will feature that great jazz artist. . .Maria Muldaur at 7:30 p.m. Saturday, Sept. 14 at the Oldemeyer Multi-Use Center in Seaside. The event, a benefit for youth music and art scholarships, includes "art previewing," refreshments and Muldaur, of course, best known for her 1974 hit Midnight at the Oasis. Although known more for her folk-blues-pop stylings, Muldaur has recorded a few jazz-tingeed albums, including Sweet and Slow, Transblucency, and Maria Muldaur, Live in London. She's always surrounded herself with fine jazz musicians, however, including Kenny Barron, Frank Wess and Benny Carter. Her last appearance here was as a back-up singer in Dr. John's band at the Monterey Bay Blues Festival.

• At Doc Ricketts' Lab on Cannery Row: Headlining shows in September include: Otis Clay and Chicago Fire (Sept. 4); Marcia Ball (Sept. 9); Joanna Conner (Sept. 16); Terrance Simien & the Mallet Playboys (Sept. 17); Dr. Loco and His Rockin' Jalapeno Band (Sept. 26) and The Subdudes (Sept. 29); . Roy Rogers is slated to ride into town (the bluesman, not the cowboy), Oct. 10. Local bands playing in the next week include Lovers & Strangers Sept. 5; The Monterey County's only major showcase featuring famous rock, jazz, blues, and country acts. Wynton Marsalis, Kris Kristofferson, Chris Issak, and John Mayall have performed at Doc's. Weekends ther's never a cover charge when you dance to quality rock bands. An intimate club with Monterey County's only professional sound and light system. Full-service bar and a friendly staff to serve you. Located in Cannery Row at 95 Prescott. Call 649-4241 for more information.

FRANCO'S & MARILYN MONROE

Franco's Restaurant. Home of award-winning hamburgers (picked from 760 contestants). Also delicious Mexican and Italian dishes plus seafood and steaks. Marilyn Monroe was the first Artichoke Queen of Castroville (1947) so the gift shop and imaginative decor and annual Marilyn Monroe Lookalike Contest (created by respectful proprietor Ernie Sanchez) honor her. For fun and great food, then, visit Franco's (and Marilyn) at 10639 Merritt St. in Castroville. Closed Monday and Tuesday. Other times, you'll never meet a more cordial host.

HELLAM'S TOBACCO SHOP

The Hellam family has been in this same business since 1892. And what a fascinating place. Tobacco products and pipes from all over the world. Rare gift items, joke gifts and tricks, adult party items. Lee Hellam and his staff take plenty of time with customers while consulting on fine tobaccos and, for another example, pipe care and supplies. Stop by and browse...it's a fun-packed stop on anyone's shopping trip. 423 Alvarado in downtown Monterey.

(Note: This peninsula corrects itself. Boomers and users don't last long. We met with advertisers who keep honesty and enjoyment of what they do as primary values.)

PLACES IN THE SUN

The delicious warmth and bright colors of Spain, Southern France, Greece, Italy, Portugal, Mexico, Guatemala, Peru. By design and commitment, these qualities pervade this very special shop. Owner Barbara Vinje travels extensively to find the just-right decorative objects -- furniture, textiles, ceramics, wrought iron pieces, rugs. And staff people know origins: the "story" of each item. (At 113 Crossroads Blvd. in The Crossroads. Simply call 626-0133 to arrange private showings. Design service too -- "from simple treatments to entire rooms and homes.")

SHANTY MALONE'S

Directors Sept. 6-7; Rock 'N' Roll Rodeo Sept. 8; The New Champions Sept. 10-11; and Lovers & Strangers again on Sept. 12

• The hard-working, hard-rocking Terry Hanck and the Soulrockers play the Monterey Bay Club Thursday through Saturday, Sept. 5-7, in the new Monterey Marriot (formerly the Sheraton).

• Upcoming shows in September at The Catalyst in Santa Cruz include: The Clarence Clemmons Band Sept. 7 David Lindley on Sept. 11, The Batteries Sept. 14, Yellowman and the Saggitarius Band (age 16 and over show) set for Sept. 15, the Fabulous Thunderbirds on Sept. 18 and Special Beat (another 16-and-over show), on Sept. 22. Weekend shows start at 9:30 p.m. and weekday shows at 9. Info for Catalyst shows can be had by calling 423-1336.

• "Class" is the operative word for this year's Monterey Jazz Festival Saturday afternoon blues show (Sept. 21), with the appearances of headliners Charles (Merry Christmas, Baby), Brown and Tony Award-winner Ruth Brown. The blues is often known for its raunchy, sexual grit and grind, but these are two class acts. The Main Stage show also features Floyd Dixon with Port Barlow & the Full House Band, Jimmy McCracklin and the Linettes, Lowell Fulson and the Browns (no relation).

The Garden Stage lineup may be just as good (and open to Grounds Admission ticket holders not just season ticket holders), with Ron Thompson and Mark Naftalin kicking it off, followed by Bobby Murray Band featuring Freddie Hughes and Bobby Cochran; Blues Willie and the South Street Runners featuring Yolanda Briggs; Floyd Dixon (and Port Barlow and & Full House); Mark Naftalin Rhythm & Blues Revue with Ron Thompson, Bobbie Webb, Maurice Kemp, and Beverly Watson; Jimmy McCracklin & the Linettes; Lowell Fulson; Charles Brown; and the MJF House Quartet with guests; Darryl Rowe Trio and Kevin Gibbs.

Ticket info is at 373-3366. The festival, of course, is sold out, but Grounds Admission tickets will be available up to and including the day(s) of the event.

By John Detro

Sketches of Spain

Spanish Style by Suzanne Slesin, Stafford Cliff and Daniel Rozensztroch. Photos by Giles de Chabaneix. Clarkson Potter Publishers. 297 pages in table format (10-1/4" square). $45.

This absolutely beautiful volume will make brand new the commonplace observation that our area's structures, interior designs and attitudes were influenced — and deeply — by Spanish motifs.

As one encounters the graceful text and striking color photographs (hundreds of them), the fierce beauty and sensual convictions in that nation fairly demand reconsiderations of themselves. The commonplace bursts open like huge, brilliant plants: this is vibrant life we're talking about, not some tepid or outdated intellectualism.

Every page shimmers, starting with the foreword by Paloma Picasso: "There is something mythical, something grander than life, that Spain has managed to retain. . .Spain deals in life and death all the time. It is all or nothing. Very extreme. Spain is the smell of heat. During the day the heat is so strong it almost obliterates every other smell. But when the sun comes down, the smell of jasmine, all those kinds of flowers, starts to flourish." And so on. Wonderful stuff.

The reader will find Spanish images, truths of life, stylistic elements, grand sites, family traditions, modern views, vacation hints. "This's simply one of the most comprehensive books on Spanish design," says Barbara Vinje (her Places in the Sun at The Crossroads has imported furniture, textiles, ceramics and rugs that reflect Spain, Southern France, Greece, Italy). "That's why we offer it for sale here."

Quite the recommendation. Barbara adds: "By the time readers get to the decorating part (of this title), they'll see how all the Spanish elements work together. They'll see inside Spain—the beauty, the hardness, the sun, the prideful people."

Barbara admits it was this very volume that inspired her 2,000-mile buying trip throughout Spain in June 1991. She took shipment just a few days ago on 150 choice purchases — country antiques, tables, chairs, doors, old pots, lamps. She and Places in the Sun manager Beverly Newport stand prepared to discuss individual pieces and the book, in detail. Yet another shipment — ceramics — will arrive in mid-September.

"I learned so many stories from Spanish people about how various things were made," Barbara continues. "I'll be excited to see some of these pieces in fine local homes. The book also helped inspire my mission, which is hunting down these dramatic and magical items, then making them available. Spain's a place of contrasts, and this book shows them quite well. And it's not too heavy; it's fun. We ordered a goodly batch from the publisher."

What's Spain? "I remember," Barbara says, "the neon pinks of flowers and sun-bleached white of adobe brick." Paloma Picasso's foreword cites "a mixture. A certain civility. Something rigorous. A rigor mixed with a very grand gesture. It's what you see in the flamenco dress, and in the flamenco dance. Something that comes really from inside, and the gesture is glamorous and open and generous."

Glamor, honesty, generosity — Spanish Style offers all three. So do Barbara, Bev Newport and the color-packed shop at 113 Crossroads Blvd. Call 626-0113 if you'd like to reserve a copy of the book or arrange a private showing of rare finds from Spain.

THE AUTHOR of a highly controversial best-seller will speak at 7:30 Monday evening (9/9) in Monterey Peninsula Unitarian Church — 490 Aguajito Rd. He's Derek Humphrey, founder and executive director of the National Hemlock Society. And of course his book's Final Exit: The Practicalities of Self-Deliverance and Assisted Suicide for the Dying.

Thunderbird Bookstore will mark the occasion by offering signed copies for sale there and then. It also will provide a book-signing the next morning (10-12) at Thunderbird Books in The Barnyard.

Humphrey was expected to discuss the book's success, current status of the "death with dignity" movement, political efforts in Washington State — and proposed for California — to legalize "physician aid-in-dying."

RIZZOLI INTERNATIONAL long has been known for its exquisite art books. Now the publishing house kicks off, this month, an "upscale line of children's books."

An announcement says Rizzoli Children's Library will "introduce young people to the world of art, architecture, museums." Also due: Contemporary Classics, traditional tales illustrated by "famous contemporary artists and architects."

The autumn line will include nine titles.

BOOKS, ETC.

The Book Tree

And what a delightful place. Owner Anna Binicos: "So many publishers shoot at the lowest common denominator. We're proudest of bypassing dross and finding the real gems in various fields." The former librarian's special fun? "Tracking down older things for people, getting to know these readers, sharing their enthusiasms. There's never a fee for the detective work. And our Special Order Service - anything in print - is quick."

New books, of course. Sale titles. Rather special emphases on psychology, women's studies, photography, literary classics. At 118 Webster near Monterey Post Office. Hours: 10-5:30 Monday through Friday; 11-5 Saturdays. 373-0228. Vibrant atmosphere.

Britannica LEARNING CENTER formerly The Reading Game

Purpose expressed by Director Phyllis Stebbins: "To foster the true love of reading". Those who work with the Center's experienced teachers, incentive programs, brilliant methods - from pre-school youngsters to busy business people - end up reading faster and better and so much more. On average, just 48 hours of instruction = a year's academic growth. Individual testing, goal-setting, schedule design.

Call today for a truly life-changing appointment - 372-2090. Convenient Monterey location: 200 Camino Aguajito... Suite 201.

An independently-owned franchise. Program proven since 1970. And committed to the joyous practicality of graceful reading.

CARMEL BOOK EMPORIUM - This area's newest bookshop emphasizes high quality and 60 sections (ultimately 100) and a big stone fireplace round which folks may browse contentedly. Manager Anne Congleton promises computerized ordering that assures "the best possible turnaround time."

Anne gives special attention to mysteries, creative writing, the lively arts - and of course the tops in contemporary fiction. Videos include such special contexts as Oscar-winning Best Pictures over the past 20 years. And PBS productions. And music tapes and CDs (local players too). Before long, Carmel Book Emporium will add a cafe - perfect meeting spot.

On Lobos Lane in The Crossroads (a few steps from Safeway). Open 10-6 Sunday/Thursday; 10-8 Friday/Saturday. 626-BOOK.

EDUCATIONAL STUFF, INC. - It's true.

Literally thousands of learning tools for youngsters from infancy to middle school age.

Developmental toys, all kinds of books, science materials, flash cards, art supplies, puzzles, teaching aids, rewards, and so on.

Ex-teacher Barbara Vantress has had the facinating spot for 11 years. Her commitments inspire the daily workways of all staff members - " each is trained to consult and recommend," says Barbara.

"Now's the perfect time to find the right projects and support materials. Prices are low to moderate - and customers always get personalized service with full product guarantees."

If you'd like one of the bright no-cost Educational Stuff catalogues, call 1-422-5044. Address: 908-1/2 South Main in Salinas. Packed with examples of excellence in research, design, overall purpose.

LES THE PHOTOGRAPHER

Photographer Les Fulgham, inspired and counseled by the late Ansel Adams, took this lovely picture. Call him about portrait work -- or any project in mind. Holiday photos as gifts and on cards? Les will meet every requirement with sensitivity and timeliness. 373-7719.

"MOTHERING HEIGHTS (and Depths)" - by newspaper columnist Beverly Borgman is now on the shelves at the Thunderbird, Bookworks, the Book Tree and the Carmel Book Emporium.

Written " from the trenches," this warm and funny collection guides us through the first guilt-edged joys of parenthood, the momentous day when Mother's "Little Helper" gets his learner's permit, and well beyond the "empty nest."

You'll want this book for yourself and for any other Mom who needs a shot in the arm.

Mail orders: P.O.Box 4402, Carmel, CA 93921. $10 includes tax, shipping. Make checks payable to Beverly Borgman.

On Stage

At the Hop

A nostalgic dance tour of the '50s and '60s, At the Hop will be the centerpiece of a benefit gala set Saturday, Sept. 7. The production continues Thursdays through Sundays at GroveMont's Monterey Playhouse.

Laura Akard created and directs At the Hop, which features a cast of eight dancing their way from Do-Wop to Motown. The themed sections cover such all-important topics as falling in love; finding, losing and refinding Mr. Right; hanging out, being cool, surfing, cruising, going to a dance, and sharing a soda at the malt shop.

Saturday's gala begins a festive '50s meal served at 7:15 p.m. at the playhouse, followed by At the Hop at 8. Intermission will be the time for more enticing food treats, including mini chocolate hamburgers with cookie fries and fresh strawberry puree. At the conclusion of the show, get ready for a party with jukebox dancing.

Tickets are $75, with proceeds to benefit GroveMont Theater. Show-only tickets will also be available.

Regular performances of At the Hop continue at 8 p.m. Thursdays through Saturdays and 7 p.m. Sundays until Sept. 28.

Regular admission on Thursdays, Fridays and Sundays is $10 general and $8 for students, seniors and the military. On Saturdays, admission is $12 and $10.

GroveMont's Monterey Playhouse is at 425 Washington St. in downtown Monterey. For reservations, call 649-6852.

The Pirates of Penzance

The Western Stage presents The Pirates of Penzance by Gilbert and Sullivan. Curtain is at 8 p.m. Friday and Saturday, Sept. 6-7.

The Western Stage is housed within Hartnell College, 156 Homestead Ave. (off West Alisal Street) in Salinas. For ticket information, call 375-2111 or 755-6816.

The Boy Friend

The Boy Friend, the Sandy Wilson flapper-era musical which introduced Julie Andrews to Broadway, continues in the Main Stage Theatre at Monterey Peninsula College.

The musical is presented Fridays and Saturdays at 8 p.m. and Sundays at 2 p.m. MPC has also added shows at 7 p.m. Sunday, Sept. 8 and 2 p.m. Sunday, Sept. 15.

Gentleman pays a call

TOM (Christopher Heimer, right), points out a baseball article to the Gentleman Caller (Kent Carlson) in the Forest Theatre Guild staging of The Glass Menagerie. The Tennessee Williams classic can be viewed through Sept. 15 at Cherry Hall, Guadalupe and Fourth, Carmel. The play is directed by Sandy Williams.

Set in 1926 on the French Riviera, The Boy Friend focuses on the story of Polly, an English heiress and student at Mme. Dubonnet's finishing school, who meets and falls in love with Tony. Though of noble lineage, Tony is posing as a delivery boy.

Jennifer Miller portrays Polly in the MPC production, and Stuart Bratholt is Tony. Blase Mills as Maisie and Terry Barto as Bobby Van Heusen are also featured.

Tickets are $12 general admission; $9 for students/military/senior citizens and $6 for children 12 and younger.

Reservations may be made by calling the MCTA box office at 375-6398, or the MPC box office at 646-4213, between 4 and 7:30 p.m. Wednesday through Saturday.

The Glass Menagerie

Cherry Hall in Carmel provides the setting for the Forest Theater Guild staging of The Glass Menagerie by Tennessee Williams.

Ann Mattingly portrays Amanda, an aging Southern Belle living in the past and trying to survive in a reality she doesn't understand. She is desperate to see her daughter happily married and her son successful in business, and discouraged that neither of her children is living up to her expectations.

Sandy Williams directs the production, which plays Thursdays through Sundays until Sept. 15.

The cast includes Christopher Heimer, Ivy Cates and Kent Carlson.

Curtain is at 8 p.m. Thursdays through Saturdays and 7 p.m. on Sundays. Cherry Hall is located at Guadalupe and Fourth in Carmel. Tickets are $10 general and $8 for students, senior citizens and the military. For reservations or other information, call 648-5722.

Guys and Dolls

Based on Damon Runyon's short story, "The Idyll of Miss Sara Brown," Guys and Dolls tells the musical tale of hard-shelled but soft centered Times Square riffraff being saved by Miss Sara Brown of the Save-a-Soul Mission. However, Miss Sara never expected to have her heart stolen away by Sky Masterson, one of the souls she attempts to save.

Guys and Dolls continues at The Wharf Theater. Gina Welch Hagen directs the musical, which plays through Sept. 8.

Performances are set at 8:30 p.m. Thursdays through Saturdays and 8 p.m. Sundays. Tickets are $10 for adults and $5 for children under 12. Groups of 16 or more will be admitted for $8 each.

For reservations, call 372-1373 or 649-2333. The theater is located on Old Fisherman's Wharf No. 1 in Monterey.

The Drunkard

The 496th production featuring the Troupers of the Gold Coast is the melodramatic classic, The Drunkard. Curtain is at 8 p.m. Fridays and Saturdays at California's First Theatre.

The Drunkard serves to show the wages of drink when a totally respectable Edward Middleton becomes downtrodden after being tempted with liquor. Of course, as in all good melodramas, all ends well with Edward back in the loving arms of his family.

Following the play, the Troupers present their Olio (or aftershow).

The box office opens at 1 p.m. Wednesday through Saturday. The theater is at Scott and Pacific in downtown Monterey.

Tickets are $7 for adults, $5.50 for seniors and teens, and $4.50 for sub-teens. For reservations, call 375-4916.

Assertive character

NATHAN DETROIT (Robert Gosnell, left), receives a dressing down from Adelaide (Denise Terrazas) in Guys and Dolls. The musical continues its run at the Wharf Theater in Monterey.

Postal Pointers

Beware of Home Improvement Fraud!

by Ann McK. Robinson, Consumer Advocate, United States Postal Service

Watch out for "free inspection" offers. They may turn up repairs you don't need.

Home repairs and improvements can be costly—so watch out if somebody mails you a brochure offering to do an expensive job for an unusually low price—or to make a free inspection of your home.

Experts at the U.S. Postal Service point out that these are the favorite tricks of dishonest home repair firms. Some offer a price you just can't resist. Once you sign the contract you learn why—they never deliver the service.

Free inspections usually turn up plenty of expensive repairs you don't need. Some shady companies will offer to do the work on the spot. When they leave, you may be left with a large bill and faulty repair job.

Some of these same selling techniques are also used by honest business people. That's why it's sometimes very difficult to separate the bad buys from the good buys.

Use These Precautions:

• Always get several estimates for every repair job and compare prices and terms. Check to see if there's a charge for estimates.

• Ask your friends for recommendations—or ask the firm for references—and check them.

• Contact your local Consumer Affairs Office or Better Business Bureau to check out the company's reputation before you authorize any work.

• Pay with a check or money order—never with cash. Arrange to make payments in installments—one third at the beginning of a job, one third when the work is nearly completed and one third after the job is done.

The Inspection Service investigates violations of the mail fraud law. Consumer complaints are the primary basis for investigation by Postal Inspectors.

NOTICE OF APPLICATION AND HEARING FOR RIGHT TO ATTACH ORDER; ORDER FOR ISSUANCE OF WRITE OF ATTACHMENT
CASE NO. DC91 234351

ATTORNEY OR PARTY WITHOUT ATTORNEY, RICHARD K. ABDALAH, ESQ. (408) 252-5211, JACKSON, MacALLISTER & ABDALAH, 10455 Torre Avenue, Cupertino, CA 95014. ATTORNEYS FOR PLAINTIFFS.

MUNICIPAL COURT, SANTA CLARA COUNTY, 1095 Homestead Road, Santa Clara, CA 95050. Santa Clara Facility.

PLAINTIFF: Edward L. Chang, et. al.

DEFENDANT: Thomas Barrett, II, et. al.

Notice to defendant DIANE J. HOBACK aka DIANE J. DELONG. Plaintiff has filed an application for a right to attach order and writ of attachment.

A hearing on plaintiff's application will be held in this court as follows: Sept. 27, 1991 at 9:00 a.m. dept. 36.

You are notified that a right to attach order will be issued if the court finds that plaintiff's claim is probably valid and the other requirements for issuing he order are established. This hearing is not for the purpose of determining whether the claim is actually valid. Determination of the actual validity of the claim will be made in subsequent proceedings in the action and will not be affected by the decision at the hearing on the application for the order.

If you desire to oppose the issuance of a right to attach order to object to the amount to be secured by the attachment as provided in CCP 484.015, you must file with this court and serve on plaintiff (no later than five days prior to the date set for hearing in item 3) a notice of opposition and supporting affidavit as required by CCP 484.060.

If a right to attach order is or has been issued, a writ of attachment will be issued to attach your property described in plaintiff's application unless the court determines that the property is exempt from attachment or that its value clearly exceeds the among necessary to satisfy the amount to be secured by the attachment. However, since the right to attach order will not necessarily be limited to your property described in plaintiff's application, a writ of attachment may later be issued to attach over nonexempt property of yours.

If you claim that all or some portion of the property described in plaintiff's application is exempt from attachment, you must no later than five days prior to this hearing include your claim of exemption in your notice of opposition filed and served pursuant to CCP 484.060 or file and serve a separate claim of exemption with respect to the property as provided in CCP 484.080. and file with the court and serve on plaintiff a claim of exemption with respect to the property as provided in CCP 484.350.

If you fail to make a claim about personal property, or make a claim about real or personal property, but fail to prove that the property is exempt, any further claim of exemption to the property whill be barred unless you show a change in circumstances occurring after expiration of the time for claiming exemptions.

Claims of exemption resulting from a change of circumstances, whether after denial of a previous claim or expiration of the time for claiming exemptions, may be asserted as provided in CCP 482.100.

You may obtain a determination at the hearing whether property not described in the application is exempt from attachment. Your failure to claim that property not described in the application is exempt from attachment will not preclude your from making a claim of exemption with respect to the property at a later time.

You may also obtain a determination at the hearing whether the among sought to be secured by the attachment shall be reduced by the (1) the amount of any money judgement in your favor and against plaintiff that remains unsatisfied and enforceable, (2) the amount of any indebtedness of the plaintiff that you have claimed in a cross-complaint filed in the action if your claim is one upon which an attachment could be issued, or (3) the amount of any claim asserted by your as a defense in the answer pursuant to CCP 431.70 if the claim is one upon which an attachment could be issued has an action been brought on the claim when it was not barred by the statute of limitations.

Either you or your attorney or both of you may be present at the hearing.

You may seek the advice of an attorney as to any matter connected with plaintiff's application. The attorney should be consulted promptly so that the attorney may assist you before the time set for hearing.

NOTICE OF PETITION TO ADMINISTER ESTATE
FILE NO. MP 11887

OF BARBARA B. LYSLE.

ATTORNEY OR PARTY WITHOUT ATTORNEY, RICHARD SCOTT LYSLE, Bar 54022, 330 Washington Blvd., Suite 400. Marina Del Rey, CA 90292. Telephone 213-822-6023.

PETITIONER: Richard Scott Lysle., 1200 Aguajito Rd., Monterey, CA 93940.

ESTATE OF BARBARA B. LYSLE.

To all heirs, beneficiaries, creditors, contingent creditors, and persons who may otherwise be interest in the will or estate, or both, of BARBARA B. LYSLE, BARBARA BLUMBERG.

A PETITION has been filed by Richard Scott Lysle in the Superior Court of California, County of Monterey.

The PETITION requests that Richard Scott Lysle be appointed as personal representative to administer the estate of the decendent.

The PETITION requests the deceden'ts WILL and codicils, if any, be admitted to probate. The will and any codicils are available for examination in the file kept by the court.

The PETITION requests authority to administer under the Indepdent Administration of Estates Act. (This authority will allow the personal representative to take many actions without obtaining court approval. Before taking certain very important actions, however, the personal representative will be required to give notice to interested persons unless they have waived notice or consented to the proposed action.) The independent administration authority will be granted unless an interested person files an objection to the petition and shows good cause why the court should not grant the authority.

A PETITION for determination of or confirmation of property passing to or belonging to a surviving spouse under California Probate Code section 13650 IS JOINED with the petition to administer the estate.

A HEARING on the petition will be held on 9-27-91 at 9:30 AM. located at 1200 Aguajito Road, Monterey, CA 93940.

IF YOU OBJECT to the granting of the petition, you should appear at the hearing and state your objections or file written objections with the court before the hearing. Your appearance may be in person or by your attorney.

IF YOU ARE A CREDITOR or a contingent creditor of the deceased, you must file your claim with the court and mail a copy to the personal representative appointed by the court within four months from the date of first issuance of letters as provided in section 9100 of the California Probate Code. The time for filing claims will not expire before four months from the hearing date noticed above.

YOU MAY EXAMINE the file kept by the court. It you are a person interested in the estate, you may file with the court a formal Request for Special Notice of the filing of an inventory and appraisal of estate assets or of any petition or account as provided in section 1250 of the California Probate Code. A Request for Special Notice form is available from the court clerk. Petitioner, Attorney for petitioner: Richard Scott Lysle, 330 Washington Blvd., Suite 400, Marina del Rey, CA 90292.

ROUNDUP

Make a child's wish come true

Do you have a boy's or girl's bicycle in good condition that you no longer use] If so, contribute it, tax-deductible, to the Buddy Program of the Monterey Peninsula. For details, call 655-9231.

Answer to the Crossword Puzzle

Foster care families needed

The Office of Community and Children's Services needs homes willing to share their families with children who need an alternative home—whether it be for six months or the whole year - while family reunification services are offered, or eventually a permanent home. Almost every currently licensed foster home is filled, the office reports. For information about fostering or adopting a child, call 899-8061 or 755-4660.

Assist the women's shelter

Do you feel domestic violence is a problem? would you like to do something to help? Do you have three hours per week to volunteer?

If you answered "yes" to these questions, the YWCA Women's Shelter needs you. For more information, call Chris Hoffman, crisis line director, at 372-6300.

Learn how to become a 'Big Buddy'

The Buddy Program of the Monterey Peninsula, an agency that matches adult companions with children from single parent families, will conduct orientations the second Tuesday of every month. Orientations take place 7 to 9 p.m. at Mariposa Hall, 801 Lighthouse Ave., New Monterey. This is an opportunity for those interested in volunteering with the Buddy Program to learn more about the roles, responsibilities and rewards of being a "Big Buddy." For details, call 655-9231.

Give extra bags to Goodwill

Goodwill Industries is putting out a call for paper and plastic bags for use in their stores in Monterey and Santa Cruz counties. Grocery bags will be received at Goodwill stores and Attended Donation Stations throughout the area.

Free AIDS testing available

If you think you've risked contracting AIDS from sexual contact or sharing of IV drug needles, a free test is available to see if you have been exposed to the virus. The test is anonymous; you do not have to give your name.

Daytime testing in the Monterey Peninsula area will be offered Mondays and Fridays from 8:30 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. at the Health Department, 1292 Olympia (in parking lot of Broadway and Noche Buena), in Seaside. Appointments are required. For information or appointment call 899-8100.

In Salinas, the test is offered 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. Tuesdays at the Health Department, 1270 Natividad Road. For an appointment, call 755-4512.

Evening testing is available 6 to 9 p.m. Tuesdays at the Salud para la Gente Clinic, 10 Alexander St., downtown between East Beach and East Lake streets, Watsonville. For an appointment, call 728-0222.

Survivors of incest gather

Survivors of Incest Anonymous, a 12-step recovery program for women age 18 or older, meets 7 to 9 a.m. each Friday.

There are no dues or fees. The program is open to women who have been abused by a family member or anyone the child trusted. For more information, contact Bobbi Mosley at 899-4131.

Crisis Line volunteers needed

The Community Counseling Center seeks crisis line volunteers. People interested in learning counseling and communication skills and who want a meaningful way to become involved in the community should call Cathy Smith at the center, 590 Pearl St., Monterey, 373-4775.

Alzheimer's support group meets

The Alzheimer's Association of Monterey County is a non-profit organization committed to assisting caregivers and family of persons with Alzheimer's Disease or related dementia. Dementia is a medical term for the group of symptoms of deterioration of intellectual function such as memory loss, confusion, and impaired judgment that is severe enough to interfere with work of social activities. The group offers information and support to help caregivers cope with the problems associated with dementia. The Monterey office is located in Mariposa Hall at 801 Lighthouse Ave. The group meets 1:30 to 3 p.m. the second Tuesday of the month and 5:15 to 6:45 p.m. the fourth Monday. For information, contact Toni Jacobsen at 647-9890.

Reserve with toll-free line

There is a toll-free telephone number for making reservations at California State Parks through the MISTIX reservation system —800-444-7275. Reservations from out-of-state callers will still be made through the toll number of 1-619-452-1950. The toll-free number is not only for state park camping reservations, but also for Hearst Castle tours.

Art museum offers tours

The Monterey Peninsula Museum of Art offers docent-led tours for the public at 2 p.m. on the first and third Sundays of each month.

At present the 45-minute tours focus on selections from the museum's permanent collection. The Monterey Peninsula Museum of Art is at 559 Pacific St. (across from Colton Hall) in Monterey. Hours are 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Tuesday through Saturday and 1 to 4 p.m. on Sunday. the museum is closed on Monday.

Host families needed for students

ON THE WATER

A SPARKLING HOME right on the water in Pacific Grove, offering dramatic views of Monterey Bay all the way to Santa Cruz. The living room has bleached oak floors, a fireplace with a mirrored wall, and floor-to-ceiling windows to capture every inch of the breathtaking panorama before you. There's a dining area and an open kitchen with a convenient breakfast bar. This home is fresh, light, and bright—just what a home on the Monterey Peninsula should be! Just Reduced to $875,000.

COOL POOL

SKINNY DIP to your heart's content in this indoor pool, one feature of this livable home in Carmel Knolls that also offers a fine view of Carmel Valley. Not only does this home have a pool, it has a big room that the present owner uses as a music room. You might want to use it for a third bedroom, sitting room, office, or whatever suits your fancy. Still another feature is a lovely rose garden and sit-out area on the west side of the house. $450,000.

A CUTIE WITH A GLORIOUS VIEW

ONE OF THE CUTEST cottages in all Carmel is "Suntrap," only four blocks south of Ocean Avenue and one block to Carmel beach. It's all redwood with open beam ceilings in the living room and master bedroom, complemented by hardwood floors. A brick fireplace for cheery warmth is at one end of the living room, and the big west window opens to the view. Two bedrooms, one bath, and attached garage. $825,000.

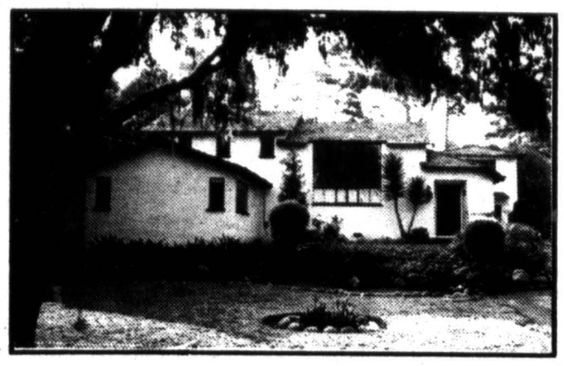

HATTON FIELDS COMSTOCK

A COMSTOCK-BUILT home on a generous oak-studded half-acre in the estate area of Carmel's Hatton Fields—that in itself ought to be an assurance of a quality buy in a home. The house itself was just made for a family—four bedrooms each with its own bath, plus a separate guest unit. The big living room with its open-beamed ceiling and big fireplaces looks out to the lovely garden and its mature oaks. Outside is a brick patio with a firepit where you can entertain al fresco. You might want to do some updating, but the house is quite adequate for family living as it now stands. Reduced to $850,000.

HOUSE AND GUEST HOUSE

Desirable Pebble Beach Location

Three bedroom, three bath main house with detached "self-contained guest home" located near Monterey Peninsula Country Club. Restored to perfection with updated kitchen and baths. Generous use of tile, new plumbing, new electrical brings this 30's vintage home into the 90's. Large lot suitable for expansion. Nicely maintained gardens.
